India to resume exporting Covid vax from October

UK decision to treat all double-vaxxed Indian fliers as unvaccinated triggers anger & worry

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA & DHINESH KALLUNGAL @ New Delhi/T'Puram

INDIA will resume exporting Covid-19 vaccines in October, Union health minister Mansukh Mandaviya said on Monday. The Centre had halted export of life-saving jabs when the devastating second wave of the pandemic struck the country in April.

The minister said "surplus supply" of vaccines will be shared with other countries under the Vaccine Maitri programme, adding that inoculating the Indian population remains the government's top priority.

The Centre is expecting a supply of 30 crore from different vaccine makers in October, which will go further up in later months.

The announcement about resumption of vaccine exports comes ahead of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to the US this week to attend a meeting of the Quad countries, where vaccines are likely to be discussed.

Meanwhile, the UK government's updated Covid protocol mandating all travellers from India – including those who have taken both the vaccine doses – to undergo three Covid tests and go into quarantine for 10 days, has upset the plans of thousands of students getting ready to enroll in various British universities.

The new rules, which were unveiled on Friday, will become effective from October 4.

Indian travellers must take a Covid test three days before departure and undergo two more tests upon arrival in England. The passengers must also self-isolate in a pre-disclosed place for 10 days

Under the new policy, the UK will consider only those who have got both doses of Oxford-AstraZeneca, Pfizer-BioNTech or Moderna or Janssen vaccines in the UK, Europe, US as fully vaccinated. Those vaccinated in Australia, Canada, Israel, Japan, New Zealand, Qatar, Singapore, South Korea and some other countries will also be considered as fully vaccinated.

Reacting sharply, former Union ministers Jairam Ramesh said it "smacks of racism". Congress MP and writer Shashi Tharoor said he has pulled out of a debate at The Cambridge Union debating society and from the launch events for the UK edition of his book The Battle of Belonging.

PROMISES FREE WATER, POWER TARIFF CUT

Calling himself an aam aadmi, Channi claimed his government was of the poor, for the poor and with the poor. In an apparent attack on AAP, he said, "I am the aam aadmi, while other parties keep talking about aam aadmi." He recalled he had pedalled a rickshaw and his father ran a tent house. He promised free water supply to small dwellings, reduction in electricity tariff and transparent governance | P9

Channi, Sidhu to be faces for polls, says Cong amidst fresh firefighting

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

EVEN before new Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi could take his oath of office and secrecy, AICC's Punjab incharge Harish Rawat let the cat out of the bag, saying the forthcoming Assembly elections would be fought under the leadership of state unit president Navjot Singh Sidhu. In other words, Channi was only a stopgap chief minister, which undermined his office, taking the sheen off elevating a member of the SC community.

It triggered a furious backlash with former Punjab Congress President Sunil Jakhar leading the charge. Jakhar's name was in circulation for the CM's post till Sunday morning. He was later offered the deputy CM's post but he rejected it.

"On the swearing-in day of Sh @Charnjit_channi as Chief Minister, Mr Rawats's statement that "elections will be fought under Sidhu", is baffling. It's likely to undermine CM's authority but also negate the very 'raison d'être' of his selection for this position," Jakhar tweeted.

Opposition parties like the Shiromani Akali Dal, BJP and BSP pounced on the opportunity, saying Channi's appointment was indeed a Congress poll gimmick.

Congress national spokesperson Randeep Singh Surjewala had to step in to do damage control. "Our faces will be Charanjit Singh Channi and Navjot Singh Sidhu as also ordinary Congress workers and leaders who will be supporting them," he told reporters.

If Channi was a surprise choice for CM on Sunday, there was enough drama to identify his two deputies. Till the last moment, the name of Brahm Mohindra, a senior minister in the previous cabinet, was doing the rounds, but Sidhu penciled him out. Instead, Sidhu's loyalist O P Soni (64) was sworn in as deputy CM along with Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa (62). Mohindra's poor health and an earlier announcement of not contesting the elections apparently went against him.

Karnataka Govt tables Bill to protect illegal religious structures

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Basavaraj Bommai government that found itself on a sticky wicket over the demolition of temples is bringing in a law to protect illegally constructed religious structures, including temples in public places.

Bommai, on Monday, tabled the Karnataka Religious Structures (Protection) Bill, 2021, to protect religious structures constructed in public places, "in order to protect communal harmony and not to hurt the religious sentiments of the public".

The state government had come under heavy fire from all quarters, including ruling BJP leaders, right wing organisations and the opposition, after the demolition of Sri Adishakti Mahadevamma temple at Hucchagani village in Nanjangud taluk of Mysuru district on September 8. The government has introduced the Bill to mitigate further dent to its image.

OBJECTIVES & REASONS

- To protect religious structures in public places
- To protect communal harmony
- Not to hurt religious sentiments
- To restrict unauthorised structures and construction on public places in future

The Bill defines 'public place' as "a place belonging to the Government and includes any premises belonging to a Local Authority, a Government company, or a Board or Corporation or any statutory or non-statutory body of the State Government". Bringing temple, church, mosque, Gurdwara, Bodh Vihar, Majar, etc. constructed on a public place without authority of law under the ambit of religious structures, the government has specified that "no religious structure and construction shall be allowed by the State Government or any Local Authority in future on a public place". P4

Look who's saying threats to Hinduism are imaginary

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

"THREATS to Hinduism" in the country are "imaginary", the Centre has said in response to a recent Right to Information (RTI) query. Dismissing claims of Hinduism being in danger, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) stated that it has no record or evidence concerning any so-called threats to Hindu religion.

Calling the alleged danger to Hinduism "hypothetical", the MHA said the Centre is neither aware of nor possesses any evidence to substantiate it.

The ministry was replying to an RTI application filed on August 31 by a Nagpur-based activist Mohnish Jabalpure who had sought proof of "threats to the 'Hindu religion' in the country" that the MHA had in its possession.

In his response, the MHA's CPIO (Internal Security) V S Rana said as per the RTI Act rules, the Public Information Officer can only provide information that is available with them, or which falls within their jurisdiction. Rana said it was not possible to satisfy the "hypothetical" query of Jabalpure, adding it was treated as null and void.

"This is the first time a key functionary of the MHA has said any query pertaining to 'threats to Hindu religion' is imaginary and admitted on record that they have been no records to support any such speculation...," Jabalpure reportedly said, after receiving the government's response.

Bribery scandal hits Amazon; senior exec sent on leave, internal probe on

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AMAZON India has been hit by a bribery scandal after a whistle-blower complaint has led to an internal probe into the e-commerce giant's legal representatives, who allegedly bribed Indian government officials.

When contacted, Amazon officials refused to give specific details about the complaints. It also did not say if the legal representatives alleged to have been involved in the bribing controversy were employees of the e-commerce firm or belonged to a third-party law firm. Any complaints against corruption or wrong individual behaviour are always investigated deeply, an Amazon official told this newspaper.

In a statement, the company said it has zero tolerance for corruption. "We take allegations of improper actions seriously, investigate them fully, and take appropriate action," it said.

While Amazon did not divulge the name of the accused, media reports said the e-commerce major has sent its senior corporate counsel Rahul Sundaram on leave in connection with the matter.

Amazon has been facing many litigation and regulatory issues in the country. It has been litigating against Future Retail against its decision to sell its entire retail business to Reliance Retail. The company has been also facing Enforcement Directorate and Competition Commission of India investigations for violating foreign direct investment and competition laws.

Meanwhile, the Confederation of All India Traders has demanded a CBI probe.

Mysuru's Meghan sets CET record, tops all 5 streams

KARTHIK KK & PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @ Mysuru, Bengaluru

MEGHAN HK, a CBSE student of Pramati Hill View Academy in Mysuru, secured the top rank in all streams of CET -- engineering, bachelor of naturopathy and yogic sciences (BNYS), agriculture, veterinary science and pharmacy.

This is the first time any student has topped all the streams, including engineering. "It is a record," said Higher Education Minister Dr CN Ashwatha Narayan.

Meghan told The New Indian Express, "I was hopeful of coming in top 10, but never thought I would come first. It was a two-and-a-half-year marathon. But proper planning and weekly goals helped me achieve this."

He owed his achievement to his parents, who both are educators and train students for the Common Entrance Test. "My parents were aware of what was best for me and had created a good learning environment at home. Though no fixed timings were followed, I studied up to 10 hours a day," he said.

Idli, dosa prices and roasting on floor of the House

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE fluffly soft idlis and crisp dosas of Hotel Janardhan became the hot topic of debate in the Assembly on Monday, with legislators squabbling about the prices -- whether they were high, higher or bumped up due to fuel prices.

Hotel Janardhan on Race Course Road, one of the oldest hotels in Bengaluru known for its classic South Indian fare, is a favourite adda with politicians across party lines. Many bigwigs, including former chief ministers Siddaramaiah and BS Yediyurappa, are spotted here after red-letter days like election day or result day.

On Monday, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, taking the floor during a debate on the price rise, said that Opposition Leader Siddaramaiah's allegation that the price rise at the iconic hotel is because of the hike in fuel price is not true.

"I have got the details here. In 2017 and 2018, one plate of idli was ₹35 which was increased by ₹1 in 2019. In 2021, it is ₹38. It is hardly a one or two rupee increase, which is natural and has nothing to do with fuel price," he added.

Siddaramaiah had said that the prices of his favourite breakfast have gone up because of the increase in transportation cost of grains and other essential commodities, which in turn is due to the rise in fuel prices. "Even today, I visit Janardhan Hotel for idli and dosa," he said.

"I am also fond of idli and dosa there," nodded Bommai.

The chief minister's reply riled Congress members, who said a person holding the chief minister's post cannot reply in such a manner. But unperturbed by the din, Bommai said, "I have even details of masala dosa and vada. But it looks like you don't want to listen. I am not interested in reeling out the prices of idli and dosa. But since the Leader of the Opposition insisted, I am giving my answer."

To this, Siddaramaiah said, "Why is the chief minister talking about rates of idli and dosa? Why is he not talking about the cement and iron prices, which are causing a hole in the common man's pocket?"

A long, hard spell of rain on Monday, measuring 44.2 mm, once again exposed the shoddy infrastructure of the city.

Even areas where top leaders of the state reside were not spared the fury of the rain. Fallen trees blocked the lane in front of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai's official residence on Race Course Road, while severe waterlogging was reported near Industries Minister Murugesh Nirani's residence at Seven Ministers Quarters.

Roads were inundated near Vidhana Soudha, where the current monsoon session is being held. The Soudha's portico had at least 1ft of standing water, which had to be bailed out by housekeeping staff.

Waterlogging was also reported from the BBMP head office, Corporation Circle, Vasanth Nagar, Richmond Town, Anil Kumble Circle and Ejipura quarters.

Rain for next 5 days

India Meteorological Department (IMD) director-in-charge, Bengaluru, Geeta Agnihotri said that heavy rain is forecast for a day, and light to moderate rainfall will occur in most southern districts of the state over the the next five days.

"The rainfall is caused by the formation of a cyclonic circulation over north Tamil Nadu and neighbourhood at 1.5km above mean sea level. There is also a trough from south-interior Karnataka to Comorin area, across Tamil Nadu, at 0.9km above mean sea level," she said.

Geeta said these are South West monsoon showers. The North East monsoon is expected to start from October 20. "This year, the monsoon has been active without any break cycles," she added.

Carbon in urban areas

Another IMD official explained that normally, heavy rainfall occurs in most parts of the region in September, and this trend has been noticed for 10 to 12 years.

MB Rajegowda, a weather expert, said the intensity of rainfall is more in urban areas because of the high concentration of carbon in the atmosphere. "There was a rise in temperature over the past 10-15 days due to a break in the monsoon. The shift in peak monsoon from October to September is good as it helps the crop cycle. In urban areas, it recharges the groundwater table," he added.

29% of II PU students clear offline exam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MINISTER for Primary and Secondary Education B C Nagesh announced the II PUC results on Monday, where only 29.21 per cent of the candidates cleared the examination.

The poor show of result was majorly due to the poor performance of private candidates as just 27.29 per cent of the 17,470 private candidates who appeared for the board examination cleared it.

The examination was held from August 19 to September 3 for private candidates, and for freshers who were unhappy about their retrospective grading (marks of SSLC, first PUC and internal marks of second PUC). Even repeaters attempted the examination and received satisfactory results.

A 93.92 per cent of the 592 fresher students and 52.29 per cent of the 351 repeaters who attempted, passed the examination. 23.08 per cent of the 39 candidates with hearing impairment, and 38.89 per cent of the 18 students with learning disability cleared the exam.

The results were favourably skewed towards students from rural areas with 32.59 per cent out of 5,961 passing the exam and only 28.62 per cent of students from urban areas managing to clear it.

Similarly, 31.72 per cent of 12,489 Kannada medium students fared better than English medium students with only 26.08 per cent passing the exam. While 36.71 per cent of girls passed the examination, only 26.02 per cent boys cleared it.

About 500 members from Aam Aadmi Party and different parents' association will protest on September 22 at Maurya Circle, for a 30 per cent fee reduction for the previous academic year 2020-21. "Most of the schools are trying to take the previous year's fees as well, as means of recovery," said Vijay, the media coordinator for Aam Aadmi Party.

Govt lecturers protest, demand increment

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ABOUT a hundred lecturers of government pre-university colleges protested at the Karnataka Examination Authority office on Monday. "We've been protesting for the eighth year in a row," said one of the lecturers in his 50's.

With a few more years left for retirement, these lecturers rue that they have not received the five-yearly increment for two terms, so when they retire, they will have a lower salary slab. Talking to TNIE, they complained that they are being paid less than high school teachers and sought the government's intervention.

These lecturers were promoted from high school teachers. "In the guise of promotion, the government has managed to save money in its kitty. We will not get the one in five years' incentive hike for the first two years of being a pre-university college lecturer," said lecturers, who gathered from various parts of the state.

Yogesh from the Karnataka State PU College Lecturers Association, said, "High school teachers get an incentive every five years starting from the tenth year of service. However, if a school teacher who either attained a masters degree (correspondence) or had a masters degree when joining as a teacher, takes a promotion after 10 years, he or she will have to forgo increment at a PUC level for two terms (10 years). The increment starts at their 15th year as PU college lecturer, as per the norm, and we seek a redressal from the government," he said.

No cutoff marks for engg courses this year

ENS @ Bengaluru

THERE will be no cutoff marks for CET students opting for engineering courses. As many as 1.83 lakh students are eligible for engineering seats this year -- a substantial increase over the previous year, Higher Education Minister C N Ashwath Narayan said.

The CET were held from August 28-30 at 530 centres across the state -- while 2,01,834 candidates had applied, 1,93,447 candidates had appeared for it.

Of 1.09 lakh engineering seats in the state, the government will fill 54,000 seats through CET, he said. Last year, 20,000 seats fell vacant.

This year, marks are based only on CET, and the Class 12 exam marks will have no bearing on the result. However, asked if there is a cut-off based on which marks will be entered for engineering courses, Narayan said there was none, and students would be selected on first come-first serve basis.

Of the 12 Covid-positive students who wrote the examination, two secured high ranks in engineering -- Imran Ahmed of Hassan secured rank 2193, and Abhinav Hebbar got 2266.

The next step of admissions -- document verification -- will begin on September 30 at the respective district headquarters. Candidates are required to keep their original documents ready.

Results of 7,000 students have been withheld, the major reason being non-submission of marks cards by over 6,000 students.

Meanwhile, the decision on engineering course fee hike is yet to be taken, he said, adding that a meeting on this is scheduled for September 27.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

21st September: If you're wondering why confusion pervades many of this week's comings and goings then it's because of Nepturian patterns. Frankly, this is perfect for poets, artists, mystics, inventors and rebels, but it's lousy for anyone who is struggling to cope with details. Extra care is needed in all tasks. There's no alternative!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Current planetary aspects will keep you on the go, and you'll be feeling intensely personal about a number of issues, including your finances, career and any property negotiations. Remember to keep up with charitable work, for it's here that your future lies.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
If career plans are afoot, please devote some of your time to checking up on current progress. It's a fine moment to ask for assistance, mainly because people around you are in a constructive mood. Put a personal question on the back-burner for now.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You may have had enough of hard work, but something seems to keep you going. If there are no new career demands today, feel free to throw your energy into a creative or leisure activity. An older friend or relation needs advice which only you can give, so utter your words of wisdom when the time is right.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Later in the week the planets will be offering you additional financial inducements. Be prepared, and take decisive action now, including broadening your horizons and enhancing the quality of your life. Even in love, put your doubts to one side.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Family members will almost certainly be in a difficult mood and their desire for stability is bound up with much deeper emotional questions. Events which take place now are sufficient to force you out of a rut, and could even make sure that partners recognise that you were right all the time.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Domestic priorities should take a back seat now that professional ambitions are intervening. It seems most important that you continue discussions, although do not expect decisions to be finalised yet. In fact, it may be another two or even three months before certainty is restored.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The planetary indications are contradictory, and you may be in something of a quandary. There'll be domestic tension and a need for a rapid decision, but there are sufficient positive developments to keep your spirits up. You've still got too much on your mind though, and that won't change for another couple of weeks.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You may expect good fortune in property matters, whether buying or selling. Fortunately, you have the right balance of optimism and commonsense, all of which should be sufficient to get you through the day successfully. At work take the long-term view and concentrate on quietly building up experience.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Relationships are always important to you. Indeed, it's often said that in spite of your independent spirit, you can't function properly unless you have someone to co-operate with. In many ways, current prospects could not be better. It's all a question of doing things in the right order.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Mars may be sweeping you off your feet, sending a sudden burst of energy in your direction. Some of you may be exhausted by increased stresses and strains, and all of you must remember that partners and associates won't automatically accept your decisions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You're at the centre of affairs and you have everything to hope for from the future. The only drawback could be your suspicion that someone else is trying to do you down. Such fears are probably unfounded, but by recognising them you'll be able to find reassurance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Accept that loved ones have the right to decide their own futures, but also be aware that there is someone who holds the key to your own affairs. You're not always sure what you need from a relationship, but now is the time to come to terms with your desires.

Over 9 lakh died in state from March '20 to Aug '21

37,423 people succumbed to Covid-19, Sudhakar tells Council

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EVEN as the opposition continues to dispute the official Covid-19 death numbers given out by the state government, Health and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar on Monday maintained that the number of Covid-19 deaths since March 1, 2020, is 37,423, while the total number of deaths in the state during that period is a whopping 9,40,416. Of them, 4,78,082 people died in the state in the past eight months alone.

Responding to Congress MLC Prakash Rathod's question on the number of deaths in the state during the past two years, the minister informed the legislative council that between March 1 and December 31, 2020, as many as 4,62,334 people died, and between January 1, 2021 and August 31, 2021, 4,78,082 people had died.

The total number of deaths is as per the records of the Office of Registrar of Birth and Deaths, and the number for the current year is being reconciled. Stating that all Covid-19 deaths are recorded, and data is updated on the ICMR website, he said the death audit is done regularly. The minister said they will think about the MLC's suggestion to look into deaths at home in rural areas.

Rathod said the government has considered only death of patients with RT-PCR positive results as Covid deaths, while a large number of people died in their houses in rural areas with Covid-like symptoms, and many were also found to have contracted Covid after undergoing CT scans. He urged the government to conduct a detailed death audit and take into account all deaths due to Covid.

As per numbers given by the minister, 67,444 people died in September 2020, 77,221 died in May 2021, and 99,665 died in June 2021 in the state.

WORRYING SURVEY

Our children are not healthy— over 1 lakh ill, malnourished

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA'S children need attention. Experts are worried over data thrown up by the Arogya Nandana campaign to screen the state's children to track their health. In 20 days of survey, of 53,82,106 children aged 0-18, 1,15,660 children are diagnosed with illness. Children were screened for Severe Acute Malnutrition (SAM), Moderate Acute Malnutrition (MAM), diabetes, chronic kidney failure, chronic lung disease, chronic liver disease, blood disorders and cancer.

As per data accessed by TNIE, under the Arogya Nandana comorbidity screening from August 23 to September 15, 1,12,389 children were found to be malnourished—while 7,259 children suffer from SAM, 1,04,790 children suffer from MAM. Haveri topped the list with the maximum number of children with SAM, while Belagavi has the highest number of children with MAM. "Many pockets of Karnataka are still dealing with malnutrition issues, and Covid has only increased such cases. It is necessary to closely track these children and ensure that the right kind of food reaches them. Children have been worst-affected, not just by non-availability of education but mainly food," said Dr Sanjay Gururaj, paediatrician, SHRC Hospital.

Paediatric endocrinologists have expressed concern over the increase in children and young adolescents coming in with diabetes. As per data, 1,759 children have been diagnosed with diabetes, of whom 1,447 are from Raichur alone. Endocrinologists say that during the pandemic, there was a surge in Type 1 diabetes in children, in which the immune system attacks cells.

"In Type 1 diabetes, the immune system destroys insulin producing cells. Respiratory infections are believed to trigger activation of the immune system against insulin producing beta cells of the pancreas, resulting in diabetes," explained Dr Abhay Gundubharthi, endocrinologist.

Meanwhile, the Health department survey found 150 children with chronic liver disease, 498 with chronic lung disease, 585 children with chronic kidney failure —189 cases from Chitradurga alone — besides 338 with blood disorders and 48 cancer cases.

In view of Covid third wave and its potential impact on children, the Karnataka government launched the Arogya Nandana campaign to identify children with comorbidities and provide them nutrition to improve their immunity.

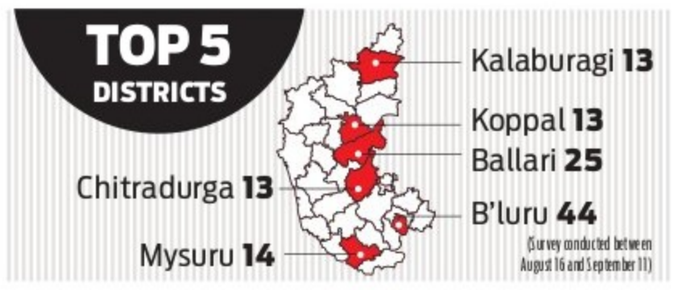
Tuberculosis detected in 151 Covid-recovered patients

RANJANI MADHAVAN @ Bengaluru

THE month-long tuberculosis survey in Karnataka found 225 people affected by the disease. Of the 225, 151 cases are Covid-19 recovered patients and 74 are contacts of such patients.

The one-time house-to-house survey by the Health and Family Welfare Department conducted between August 16 and September 11 screened 7,66,137 people. Bengaluru city (44), Ballari (25), Mysuru (14), Chitradurga (13), Kalaburagi (13), and Koppal (13) reported the highest number of TB cases. Vijayapura, Kolar, and Yadgir reported no TB cases.

"These were patients who contracted Covid between January and June this year. They have been put on TB treatment for six months continuously, with no room for defaulting. ASHA workers visit their homes if they miss their tablets. They have to give back the used tablet strips as and when they finish it,for us to keep a check. Also, Rs 500 is given to them for nutritional expenses as part of a Union Government scheme," said Dr Ramesh Reddy, state joint director, TB.



"Steroids such as Tocilizumab given to Covid patients cause the immune system to become suppressed which activates the latent tuberculosis in a patient. It will be interesting to check how many of the TB patients detected in this survey had mild to moderate Covid and were on steroids," said Dr Ravindra Mehta, Senior Consultant, and HoD, Pulmonology and Interventional Pulmonology, Apollo Speciality Hospital.

In a written reply by Patil, officials gave a list of more than 60 unscientific road humps. Objecting to this, Ramesh Kumar rued, "Why do they spend money on such road humps?" 6L hectares of forest land to be given to poor

Forest, Revenue depts at loggerheads; parts of it lie in jumbo corridor

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Assembly session in progress in Vidhana Soudha on Monday

SIX lakh hectares of land that were earlier considered 'deemed forest' will be returned to the Revenue department, to be given to the poor, Revenue Minister R Ashoka said, in response to a question in the assembly on Monday.

Ashoka said that houses have been constructed, or cultivation has been taken up on more than nine lakh hectares of forest land, or areas close to forest land. Deputy Commissioners term these lands "deemed forest" which the Forest department is claiming as its own.

"Around six lakh hectares need to be returned. Former forest minister Anand Singh had assured us that the land would be handed back to the Revenue department. We need to file an affidavit before the Supreme Court, only then will the land be ours, and we can give it to the poor either for construction of houses or farming. Our government is committed to it," he said.

However, Forest department officials differ with Ashoka's statement. They say the 'deemed forest' land, as per the Karnataka Forest Department and affidavit submitted to the Supreme Court, is 3.9 lakh hectares. This was approved by the cabinet in 2017, and is said to be left untouched, a senior official told TNIE.

"The six lakh hectares which minister Ashoka referred to is not deemed, but some areas are part of an elephant corridor, there are eco-sensitive zones and buffer zones, so everything cannot be occupied. A proper assessment will need to be done for details of each survey number before occupying the land. Land should be identified and chosen wisely, especially with rising man-animal conflict and decreasing green cover leading to climate change," the official added.

In 2014, an affidavit showed deemed forest land in Karnataka to be 9.9 lakh hectares. But since anomalies were found, a resurvey was done, and a final report was prepared in 2017 and submitted to the State government and Supreme Court, which showed that deemed forest land is 3.9 lakh hectares. The survey was done by the DCs, Deputy Conservator of Forests and land record officials.

As per the government of India and apex court orders, land is said to be 'deemed forest' when there is over 40 per cent of natural growth per hectare, plantation is undertaken by the forest department and RTC records pre-dating June 1981 state that it is forest land.

Bommai terms farmers' agitation 'sponsored protest'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Monday termed the ongoing farmers' stir against three farm laws passed by the Centre as a "sponsored protest", and accused the Congress of "sponsoring" it. "Some people are working as foreign agents to instigate protests against the government," the chief minister alleged.

While replying to Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah, who had raised the issue of price rise in the Assembly last week, Bommai said that close to 40 per cent of revenues collected through taxes from the sale of petrol and diesel comes to the state. "With this, we can procure more wheat, paddy, rice and moong dal, as compared to the UPA government. We are helping farmers," he said.

Congress leaders, however, pointed out to the chief minister that farmers from Haryana and Punjab have been protesting for the last one year. That was when Bommai said that it was a sponsored protest. "Farmers are not protesting anywhere else in the country. All farmers across the country are happy with the farm laws. This is sponsored by Congress," he alleged, triggering a protest from Congress members.

Though leaders from the opposition party blamed the chief minister for making such a statement, Bommai said, "I have been part of many farmer protests and I know how they feel. Farmers from Punjab and Haryana play MSP politics. They were controlling the market and misleading the country. Before the Emergency, then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi said all protests were because of the involvement of foreign hand. But now there is no foreign hand as all these people have turned into foreign agents."

Congress MLAs stage walkout over price rise

Congress leaders DK Shivakumar, Siddaramaiah, Eshwar Khandre and others cycle to Vidhana Soudha to protest fuel price hike on Monday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WHILE the discussion over price rise created a ruckus in the Assembly on Monday, Congress MLAs staged a walkout in protest against the reply given by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

Bommai had stated that the NDA had procured more grains and constructed more roads compared to the UPA. Bommai added that monetisation was not started by the NDA, but by the UPA, which had monetised the Mumbai-Pune Expressway for Rs 80,000 crore and had also proposed to monetise Delhi Railway Station. "The sales tax was not reduced when the Congress government was ruling the state... What moral rights do you have to demand that the sales tax be reduced now?" the chief minister questioned.

India is not a petrol-producing country, but one that consumes it. Whenever there is a change in crude oil prices, it will have an impact on prices here, Bommai said, pointing out the reason for the hike in petrol prices. Referring to the percentage of hike over the decades, Bommai said, "It was 55% in 2000 compared to 1993, 70% in 2007 compared to 2000, and 60% in 2014 compared to 2007. The latest one which the Congress is complaining about is the 30% increase in 2021 compared to 2014, which is the lowest compared to the previous years".

Bommai questioned as to why Opposition leader Siddaramaiah had not reduced the sales tax when he was the CM, to which the Congress strongman replied that the fuel prices had not touched Rs 100 then, and even the Opposition did not demand it as such. Bommai's remark that "no one in the Congress can even come closer to Narendra Modi" created an uproar in the House and members of both the national parties engaged in a war of words.

Later, the Congress MLAs, led by Siddaramaiah, walked out of the House shouting slogans against the BJP and the price hike.

MP Suresh curtailing powers of MLAs: HDK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy alleged that Bengaluru Rural MP DK Suresh has been calling for meetings of officials of Ramanagara and Channapatna constituencies without informing the local MLAs.

The two constituencies are represented by Kumaraswamy and his wife Anitha, respectively. Raising this issue during the Zero Hour, Kumaraswamy alleged that recently the MP wrote to the Ramanagara DC and called for a meeting. "Channapattana and Ramanagara MLAs were not informed. Does the MP have the right to call for a meeting and discuss issues related to the State Government? After the Chief Secretary was informed, the meeting was called off," he said. But another meeting has been convened for Monday. "This is nothing but curtailing the powers of MLAs," he rued.

Law and Parliamentatry Affairs Minister JC Madhuswamy said MPs can hold District Development Coordination and Monitoring Committee meetings, but they have to invite the local MLA.

"During the meeting, the MPs can talk only about Central government projects," he said.

Cause noise pollution and face the music: Eco minister

The Environment department alone will not be able to tackle the issue. Senior police officers also need to take action against those violating norms

Anand Singh, Minister for Tourism, Environment and Ecology

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MINISTER for Tourism, Environment and Ecology Anand Singh on Monday said the State Government will take action against all those causing noise pollution, including mosques and temples.

Responding to BJP MLC Y Narayanswamy's question in the legislative council, the minister said that as per rules, noise level has to be within permitted levels between 10pm and 6am. Singh said they stopped noise pollution from 22 religious institutions.

The minister said though they are taking action against those causing noise pollution, the Environment department alone will not be able to tackle the issue, and senior police officers also need to take action against those violating norms, resulting in noise pollution.

Mosques and temples need to take permission from the Home department to use loudspeakers, and the Environment department will check decibel levels to prevent noise pollution, he said.

The minister said they had written to the Home department, asking it to take action against noise pollution, but are yet to get a response from it. The Environment department will continue to act against such institutions and ensure that all institutions follow norms, he said.

The members said some advanced countries have banned the use of loudspeakers and many religious institutions violate the 10pm to 6am norm by using loudspeakers much before 6am, and the government must look into it.

Earlier this year, the Karnataka Wakf Board had faced flak over its order prohibiting loudspeakers at mosques from 10pm to 6am, and had later clarified that nothing prevents them from using it for morning 'azaan' and for important announcements by complying with prescribed standards.

HC refuses to interfere in airport deal

Says lease of M'luru airport to Adani Group followed a transparent process

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

LEASING out airports for better management and functioning is purely a policy decision of the Central Government, ruled the Karnataka High Court on Monday, refusing to interfere with the Union Government's decision to lease out the Mangaluru International Airport to Adani Enterprises Ltd (AEL).

Dismissing a Public Interest Litigation (PIL) filed by the Airports Authority Employees' Union -- Mangaluru International Airport, a division bench of Acting Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum said the Airports Authority of India (AAI) has followed a transparent process in leasing out airports and has not privately negotiated the Mangaluru Airport deal.

The petitioner questioned privatisation of the airport, the bidding process and the cabinet decision of July 3, 2019 accepting the AEL bid. The Union had also requested the court to quash the consequential Concession Agreement of February 14, 2020. But the court said that after the tender was issued, the successful bidder was awarded the contract and there was no violation of any statutory provision of law. Citing the judgements of the Supreme Court, the high court held that the policy of the executive is best left to it and a court should not interfere with the policy decision unless the decision is mala fide, arbitrary, irrational or unreasonable.

"As the petitioner -- AAE Union -- has not been able to point out violation of statutory provisions of law and constitutional provisions, the present petition deserves to be dismissed," the court said.

The petitioner had alleged that privatisation of airports is contrary to the statutory provision as contained under Section 12 and 12A of the Airports Authority of India Act. Irregularities took place in the matter, such as criteria for selection of airport, undue urgency on the part of Civil Aviation Ministry/AAI, absence of feasibility study and its report and absence of minimum reserved 'per passenger fee' among others.

Poll panel seeks 3-4 months to complete TN local body election

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

THE Supreme Court on Monday reacted sharply to a plea to grant the Tamil Nadu State Election Commission (SEC) seven months to complete the elections to urban local bodies in the State. Following this, senior counsel for the SEC Mukul Rohatgi requested for at least three to four months.

When Rohatgi sought seven months to complete the elections, the bench headed by Chief Justice NV Ramana said, "The government can do anything it wants to do. But whenever the issue of local bodies elections come up, they say, no, no." Responding, Rohatgi explained that the State government's workforce was busy with the Assembly elections in February and March, and later, with Covid-related work.

As such, the court should grant at least three to four months to complete the elections in urban local bodies, he said. P Wilson, the counsel for the petitioner S Shankar, who filed a PIL on conducting the local body polls, told the court the petitioner has no objection in granting time. Following this, the bench directed Shankar to file his response to the SEC's plea within two days. Meanwhile, responding to reporters' queries in Salem, Municipal Administration Minister KN Nehru indicated that the preliminary work for conducting elections to urban local bodies in the State might take about five months.

The minister said the preliminary work would take up to 20 days, after which the general public would be given 100 days to raise objections.

Police rule out AP link in heroin bust

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

THE city police on Monday said 2,988.22 kilograms of heroin impounded at Gujarat's Mundra Port was meant to be shipped to Delhi, and not Vijayawada as suspected.

Sleuths of the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) on Wednesday last seized the banned substance, with a street value of Rs 9,000 crore, from two containers that had arrived from Iran. The value of the heroin was initially estimated to be Rs 2,500 crore. "So far, no activity, except using the Vijayawada house address for obtaining licences, has come to our notice," city police commissioner Bathini Srinivasulu said, adding that further probe was still on.

Investigations revealed that a Chennai-based woman, Govindaraju Durga Purna Vaishali, acquired the GST licence in August 2000 citing the address D No 23-14-16, Satyanarayanapuram, Gadiyaramvari Street in Vijayawada. The address belonged to Vaishali's mother Govindaraju Taraka. The premises were inspected on Sunday.

"It is learnt that Vaishali obtained Import and Export License (IEC code) from the Director General of Foreign Trading for export and import purposes," the officer said.

Vaishali has been living in Chennai with her husband Machavaram Sudhakar for the past several years.

Police were now suspecting that the Vijayawada address was furnished to avoid suspicion. No consignment had reached the address. The drug, mixed with talc stone powder, was sent by Hassan Hussain Limited in Kandahar, Afghanistan, and it reached the Indian shores via Bandar Abbas Port in Iran. Authorities unearthed the stash based on a tip-off, and arrested seven people, including two Afghan nationals.

Further probe took investigators to Aashi Trading Company on Gadiyaramvari Street at Satyanarayanapuram in Vijayawada.

Wild jumbos cornered on IIT campus

A SATISH @ Palakkad

A SCREAMING crowd chasing from behind, deafening sound of crackers and an unknown terrain. The sight of a herd of 16 wild elephants, including calves, huddled together on the IIT campus at Kanjikode in Palakkad on Monday, was distressing.

The herd had entered the human habitation from the adjoining Walayar forests through a breach in the solar fencing, attracted by the over growth. As local residents and the forest department burst crackers to drive them back, the elephants panicked and ran helter-skelter. They later stood in a tight group around a puddle of water.

Hundreds of migrant labourers, who were on the campus for work, climbed on top of the under-construction building to escape from the elephants.

A herd of 16 wild elephants huddle on the IIT campus at Kanjikode in Palakkad on Monday

However, there were no students as the IIT is functioning on the campus of Ahalia Engineering College in Kozhipara and on the nearby 30-acre transit campus, said IIT advisor (administration) K M Unni.

The Malampuzha-Kanjikode-Walayar-Madukkarai forest belt has been a traditional elephant corridor and blocking it is forcing the elephants to stray into human habitations.

"The railway track connecting Palakkad to Coimbatore passes through Walayar forest and as many as 30 wild elephants have died on the stretch in the last two decades after being hit by trains," said Wild Life Protection Society of India project officer S Guruvaroorappan.

The forest area located behind the IIT campus is part of Ayyappan Mala, which is an extension of the Nilgiri biosphere. It extends from Manjoor in Attappadi to Siruvani and continues to Kovai Kuttrallam waterfalls, he added.

BIG WEEK FOR GLOBAL DIPLOMACY AMID QUAD SUMMIT

The new Australia-UK-US security alliance, AUKUS, has taken some of the sheen away from the first in-person Quad summit coming up on September 24. But the overheated geopolitics in South Asia and the Indo-Pacific would ensure an agenda bristling with urgency. Particularly when China's 'wolf warrior diplomacy' has a near-predatory edge: from the Senkaku islands, to Himalayan borderlands, to the blue waters of South China Sea. Giving everyone in the broad vicinity—Japan, Australia, India, Vietnam, Taiwan—more than just a headache. The last two are not part of the Quad, which is determined to counter China in the Indo-Pacific. Other issues—like Covid vaccination and climate change—too may get taken up when Prime Minister Narendra Modi meets US President Joe Biden on the sidelines of the Quad summit.

India will also have to figure out what AUKUS means for it, especially the nuclear-armed submarines delivered to Australia. New Delhi has been eyeing those nuke warheads for quite some time now, for the same reason—to fob off China on the seas. New Delhi surely has its hands full—maritime or mainland. The interesting twist with the one urgent concern that the US and India share—China's rising clout in the region—is that Afghanistan now comes into that matrix. Now that the grave implications of Beijing playing footsie with the Taliban in tandem with Pakistan must be clearer to the Biden administration, how does it see India's role?

That apart, PM Modi would also have to sort out the contretemps over CAATSA—Countering America's Adversaries Through Sanctions Act. It's awaiting the delivery of the S-400 anti-aircraft missile system from Russia by year-end. If Washington does not give India a special waiver, the situation may get complicated. If Washington's primary intention is to contain China, it's unlikely to commit the harakiri of imposing sanctions on India, and put a strategic partner in a quandary.

THE ODI CAPTAINCY CONUNDRUM

In a cricketing context, the last week was dominated by one word: resignation. Thanks to Virat Kohli. First, as India's T20 captain after the World Cup and then as RCB's after the Indian Premier League. The India captain is more than just a cricketer. He is a multi-crore brand whose every word carries a market value (tagged in lakhs if not crores), be it on social media or TV ads. Inevitably, whatever he says or does become big news. The day he announced he was going to step down as India's T20 captain, experts and pretenders dissected his move threadbare. Reasons influencing his decision ranged from being under pressure due to under-performing as a batsman, toxic dressing room ... to Mahendra Singh Dhoni's presence in the dressing room during the World Cup. Between all these outrageous discussions and speculations, there are a few things that stood out.

One is the emergence of swashbuckling opener Rohit Sharma as the main contender to take over the reins of the T20 team at 34. It's not an ideal age but given the demands of the shortest format and his uncanny ability to brew victories, he is expected to survive a little longer. What could be intriguing to see is whether it would be ideal for Rohit to lead only the T20 team (around 12-14 matches a year). Usually, when a country opts to go down the route of split captaincy, it's one player becoming skipper across both white-ball formats. Kohli has not stepped down as ODI skipper as of now.

In an ideal world, one who leads in T20s should be leading in the 50 overs format too. It needs to be seen if the Indian cricket board would take this sticky decision and put Rohit in the hot seat or whether they would continue with Kohli. They need to arrive at a decision sooner rather than later because there is a 50-over World Cup in 2023. If they decide to kick the can down the road to next year, preparations for the ODI World Cup at home could be hampered.

In its desire to move away from the Middle East theatre, which includes Afghanistan, and refocus on the Indo-Pacific, the US may have dug a hole of instability in the heart of Asia

POST-AFGHANISTAN GEOPOLITICAL POTPOURRI

LT GEN SYED ATA HASNAIN (RETD)

Former Commander, Srinagar-based 15 Corps. Now Chancellor, Central University of Kashmir

AMIT BANDRE

An aggressive China, a regressive US, a vacillating Russia, an overenthusiastic Pakistan, a 'wait-and-watch' India and a largely stumped world characterise the international geopolitical environment after the return of the Taliban in its new avatar in Afghanistan. This juncture also coincides with what could be perceived as the tapering phase of the coronavirus pandemic that had its own unique geopolitical impact on the world. In its desire to move away from the Middle East theatre that includes Afghanistan, refocus on the Indo-Pacific and rebuild its preparedness to contest the rise of China, the US may well have dug a hole of instability in the heart of Asia. This may continue to trouble it for longer than we can imagine. A world order in the making in 2020 still had at its centre a strong US awaiting transition to a new region of focus to meet future challenges. The difference in 2021 is that the combination of the pandemic, the mishandling of the withdrawal from Afghanistan, and a political and military leadership with a diminished image create a perception of a superpower on the decline. The US has to shake itself out of this perception to enable it to handle the effects of its withdrawal from Afghanistan. It has also to ready itself to simultaneously meet the threats in the Indo-Pacific as well as those of the Middle East and Afghanistan. There is no scope for exclusive focus on a region; by virtue of being a superpower, the US must retain the capability to respond to and calibrate the situations both in the Indo-Pacific and the Middle East, plus the Af-Pak region.

There is a reason for the above belief. Most analysts believe that China is extremely wary of its 22 million Muslim population and the potential of it being radicalised to the extent of posing a threat to China's internal security and regional stability. A reappraisal of that belief points towards the thought that simmering instability in the region comprising Afghanistan and its neighbourhood may actually accrue strategic advantage to China. It would be confident of handling its own minority Islamic populace through coercive means; it's been doing this for some years now without any meaningful response from the Islamic nations. Thus, backlash is unlikely. Support to the Taliban in many ways meets China's intent of also keeping its Belt & Road Initiative on track through the aggregated influence among the various nations in which the infrastructure exists. This is not a coalition of the Confucian and the Islamic civilisations as correctly pointed out by India's External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar. Rather, it is a tactical convergence of the interests of China with some disparate elements who claim the mantle of Islam; none of the other countries that have majority Muslim populations have such convergence. Pakistan and elements within the Taliban 2.0 would like to be seen as the flagbearers of Islam. For China, the biggest advantage of the above tactical ploy is to keep the US concerned about this region and thus prevent it from making the Indo-Pacific its chief concern. It currently does not have the maritime muscle to contest the US in the Indo-Pacific but hopes that in the course of the next decade and a half, it will be in a position to hold its own more effectively.

The US, which has had a strong relationship with Pakistan due to geostrategic considerations, has mostly displayed reluctance to deal with Islamabad's rogue behaviour. However, it needs to review its policy in a manner such that it can get Pakistan to act responsibly towards the international community, failing which the nation must be at the receiving end of all actions that have been taken against other rogue states. What the US needs is a Pakistan strategically clearly balanced in its favour and perceiving its interests through that alignment. That is not going to be, as Pakistan perceives that it has the ability to play either way in the competition between the US and China, with each being advantageous to its interests. The US is going to find it difficult to coerce Pakistan in any way except through the route of withholding economic support, but by now Islamabad seems adept at managing its economic affairs in a minimalist way with some support from China. It also appears to be resigning itself towards not finding a special relationship with Saudi Arabia any longer. Yet, things could be changing there too.

> A world order in the making in 2020 still had at its centre a strong US awaiting transition to a new region of focus to meet future challenges. The difference in 2021 is that Covid and the mishandling of the Afghan withdrawal have contributed to a perception of a superpower on the decline

Among the geopolitical affairs of the post-Afghanistan period that tend to flummox is the relative silence of Saudi Arabia and the UAE, both countries with major financial clout and influence in the Islamic world. They were among the exclusive three that recognised Taliban 1.0. They have observed with some consternation the role played by Qatar through the crisis and the proactive diplomacy undertaken by it as the intermediary between the US and the Taliban. The power of the Saudis and the Emiratis is far greater and an eventual role for them is inevitable. The worry should be whether that will again come through the route of Pakistan. Saudi Arabia may be unwilling to cede strategic space to Qatar, Turkey or for that matter Iran, which too has played a significant role in the Afghan drama.

Most analyses give Pakistan the advantage in the first phase of post-withdrawal Afghanistan. However, clearly Pakistan remains tenuous in its approach. It has too many directions to look in and is unclear about its own interests. What it aims at is a regime in Kabul largely under its control and completely opposed to any Indian role in Afghanistan. It does not wish to be an American-Saudi proxy in the great game because that combine has Indian interests embedded too while also tilting the balance against the other forces, making a bid for larger influence within the Islamic world. In the midst of all this, Taliban 2.0 may well wish to find its autonomy away from the strings of control of Pakistan. The geopolitics could not be more complex and we may have seen just the tip of the iceberg with much more to come. Pakistan clearly remains the key player and its importance can only be written off at the cost of major risk.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY FOR FINTECH TO SERVE MSMEs

LAVU SRI KRISHNA DEVARAYALU

YSRCP MP from Narasaraopet, Andhra Pradesh

In December 2020, India crossed the threshold figure of digital payments worth ₹4 lakh crore in a month. This milestone is a testament to the power of private sector innovation built on digital public infrastructure (UPI) and its principles should guide the future of FinTech. With digital payments reaching critical mass, the foundation for a FinTech revolution is firmly in place.

The rise of FinTech offers a rare window to craft an inclusive financial ecosystem that works for all Indians and not just the top quartile. Poor citizens and micro and small enterprises have been forced to utilise 20th century financial products that are incapable of supporting the demands of 21st century growth. As the private sector innovates and the government guides innovation, the focus must be on closing this gap.

In this process, FinTech that helps MSMEs must be prioritised. This will have a multiplier effect, given their linkage with employment, exports and the rural economy. After 2015, MSMEs underwent the first wave of digitisation with payments and GST. Increased digitisation presents an opportunity to solve two key problems for MSMEs: delayed payments and costly, inaccessible credit.

These issues are interlinked and have been haunting MSME growth for years. Delayed payments disrupt an MSME's cash flow cycle, stopping payments to workers and suppliers (typically micro, informal enterprises). They are forced to take costly working capital credit from informal sources, which increases their cost of doing business.

Delayed payments: The issue of delayed payments plagued MSMEs even before the Covid recession and has been acknowledged by Union Minister Nitin Gadkari himself. Regulatory mandate of a 45-day rule in the MSMED Act, 2006, has not worked so far. The problem occurs largely due to the skewed bargaining power of MSME sellers vis-a-vis the large buyers (government, PSUs, conglomerates). Expectedly, MSMEs don't raise complaints due to the fear of losing the buyer and the lethargy of our dispute resolution process. The solution to delayed payments must be led by the government as its departments and PSUs account for 94% of the pending payments, as per a CII survey .

The MSME ministry started the Samadhaan portal in 2017 to facilitate these pending payments. But it has had limited impact as it has facilitated payments worth ₹2,000 crore, miniscule compared to outstanding payments worth ₹5 lakh crore. The U K Sinha Committee's recommendation of uploading all MSMEs invoices and facilitating payments through the platform can be considered. To minimise compliance burden on MSMEs, the portal can be integrated with GSTN to automate invoice uploading. The portal's data can be processed to generate 'timeliness ratings' for buyers, indicating the average time taken for a payment threshold. Akin to a credit rating system, this will give MSMEs information about the buyer's payment behaviour and incentivise buyers to improve.

Invoice financing: Allowing businesses to avail advances against outstanding invoices from buyers is a low-cost solution for delayed payments. In 2014, the RBI started the TReDS platform for MSMEs to receive payments against outstanding invoices through factors (banks and NBFCs). While the platform has grown from ₹815 crore in 2017-18 to ₹11,165 crore in 2019-20 , there is untapped potential. To grow the platform, it needs more factors, buyers and MSMEs.

As of now only banks and selected NBFCs can act as factors on the TReDS platform. The upcoming amendment to the Factoring Regulation Act will permit all NBFCs to act as factors. This will improve the platform's competitiveness and reduce the discount rate.

TReDS also needs to onboard more buyers and MSMEs to democratise access to invoice finance. To enable this, more entities should be allowed to operate the TReDS platform. This will have two benefits: first, they will work to onboard more buyers and MSMEs, thus removing the need for government mandates. Second, they will tailor the platform workflow to the business cycle of each sub-sector. As a result, even micro enterprises that account for 99% of MSMEs will be able to benefit from TReDS.

> India's FinTech ecosystem is nascent yet growing rapidly. With credible solutions to delayed payments and access to credit, MSMEs can triple their gross value added from ₹60 lakh crore to ₹180 lakh crore in the coming decades

Access to credit: The story of MSME credit is a paradox—micro and small loans have the lowest default rates but occupy a small share in overall lending. As per TransUnion CIBIL, micro and small loans have the lowest NPA rates of 8.7% and 10.3%, respectively but constitute only 21% of the overall credit exposure. The financial sector's unwillingness to lend to them despite being safer remains a puzzle.

In its report, the U K Sinha Committee suggested that high cost-to-serve and low lender coverage are the key barriers to lending. Emerging digital lending services can solve these challenges. MSMEs can borrow through digital lending platforms, which have easy access app-based interfaces. Alternate data points like cash flows, GSTN, payroll and utilities payments are being used to assess credit risk of MSMEs without a credit history. Such innovations across the credit value chain promise flexible, low-cost credit. MSMEs can expect better turnaround times, lower processing costs, robust risk assessment and flexible repayment schedules. Take for instance a farmer who has never availed formal credit but pays for inputs and receives payment for her produce digitally. She can now receive a short-term, cheap loan before sowing where the repayment is linked to harvest and payment cycle instead of an EMI.

But the promise of digital lending is threatened by the rise of rogue apps that lend at usurious rates and use illegal collection methods. Some act like digital loan sharks and have Chinese ownership. The RBI's tepid response in checking the malpractices has worsened the problem. Rogue lenders threaten the growth of the entire ecosystem by eroding customer trust and inviting burdensome regulation that can chill innovation.

The solution must be found together by the government, regulator and digital lenders. The RBI's Internal Working Group on digital lending should suggest loan service provider guidelines. These shall streamline the role and responsibility of the online platform or digital lending app and the lender (bank/NBFC). The private ecosystem—online platforms, apps, banks and NBFCs—should constitute a self-regulatory organisation, which can formulate 'light-but-right' regulation for the ecosystem. The guiding principle in this process must be to balance cutting edge innovation with customer protection.

India's FinTech ecosystem is nascent yet growing rapidly. This offers us the golden opportunity of nudging it towards serving the underserved and unserved MSMEs. With credible solutions to delayed payments and access to credit, MSMEs can triple their gross value added from ₹60 lakh crore to ₹180 lakh crore in the coming decades. The benefits will be disproportionately felt by the poor and middle class.

A respected leader

This is with reference to Tale of power transfers in two important states (Sep 20). In Punjab, it is Amarinder Singh who brought the Congress to power while in Gujarat, the credit for the BJP's rise belongs to PM Modi. The power transfer in Gujarat was silent as the state wing just followed orders, but Amarinder is a respected leader in Punjab. The Congress should have kept that in mind and respected his stature. A humiliated Amarinder may not stay silent and is sure to play spoilsport during the Assembly polls.

Hemanth Bhide, Mangaluru

Played into Sidhu's hands

It is amusing that the Congress tried to do something similar to the BJP by changing the CM in Punjab. They have also now brought in a Dalit face, Charanjit Singh Channi, in the run-up to the Assembly polls due early next year. The party has played into the hands of Navjot Singh Sidhu, who was a thorn in Amarinder's flesh this entire time.

K V Raghuram, Wayanad

Caste census required

This is with reference to Breaching quota ceiling and need for caste census (Sep 20). As caste-based reservations are an unavoidable reality in India, the need for a caste census cannot be ignored. But as the article rightly points out, a more scientific method of incorporating data on OBCs and SEBCs should be done in the ensuing Census. The availability of such data will also help in working out a solution to the 50% cap on reservations.

Dharmarajan A K, Thalassery

Need-based welfare

The demand for a caste census is a regressive one and the argument that such data is required for planning welfare programmes is unacceptable. Welfare programmes should be need-based. No one caste is completely economically backward or forward, as poverty and hunger knows no caste or religion. It is better for the government to plan welfare schemes based on the economic status of people and not on their caste.

Duggaraju Srinivasa Rao, Vijayawada

TN still has long way to go

This is with reference to TN's reset towards social justice (Sep 20). The editorial rightly points out that just observing the birth anniversary of Periyar as Social Justice Day is not enough to meet the ideals of social justice and equality dreamed by him. Tamil Nadu still has a long way to go in this regard. What is required is education to all downtrodden people living in rural parts of the state and employment opportunities for them.

CM Channi calls for repeal of farm laws

Takes oath as Punjab chief minister along with two deputies, Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa and Om Prakash Soni

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

PUNJAB'S first Dalit Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi was sworn in by Governor Banwarilal Purohit on Monday. Channi's two deputies Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa and Om Prakash Soni, too, were administered the oath of office in a ceremony attended by former Congress president and wayanad MP Rahul Gandhi, Punjab Congress president Navjot Singh Sidhu and AICC in-charge of the state Harish Rawat, among others.

Soon after taking over, Channi committed his government's support to farmers protesting against the new farm laws and urged the Centre to repeal the 'black laws'. Stating his government would act on the 18-point agenda set by the party, Channi said a reduction in electricity tariff and waiver of all outstanding dues of the poor would be announced after the first Cabinet meeting. He asserted that all the poll promises would be fulfilled.

Thanking the high command for choosing a common man like him to helm the affairs of Punjab, Channi recalled his days of want, saying, "My father used to fix tents at others' houses and I drove a rickshaw." Channi said while other parties only paid lip service to the uplift of the common man, 'revolutionary leader' like Rahul Gandhi ensured a commoner like him could become CM.

Invoking Guru Gobind Singh, Channi vowed to act on the long-pending demands of action against sand mafia. "I am a representative of the common man, the farmer and all the oppressed. I am not a representative of the rich. Those who are into sand-mining and other illegal activities, they should not come to me. I am not your representative."

Assuring transparent governance, Channi assured to resolve the issues of the protesting state employees. He said the Congress' ideology was to take everybody along, adding: "The party is supreme, not the chief minister or the cabinet. The government will work as per the party's ideology."

Thanking his predecessor Amarinder Singh, Channi said he would carry forward the good work done by the former, and added: "I will complete all of Captain's unfinished work. He is known as the protector of water rights. He is our party leader," he said.

Congress-led oppn protest a damp squib on day one

RICHA SHARMA @New Delhi

THE opposition's joint nationwide protest against the BJP government on rising prices, farm laws and unemployment turned out to be a damp squib on the first day, with the Congress busy firefighting in Punjab and the Gandhis in Shimla on a personal visit while other parties gave it a miss.

A majority of the 18 opposition parties that participated in the meeting chaired by Congress chief Sonia Gandhi in August to chalk out a strategy against the BJP government at the Centre maintained a distance from holding protest. The opposition has, however, lent support to the 'Bharat bandh' call given by farmer organisations on September 27.

Sonia, along with children Priyanka Gandhi Vadra and Rahul Gandhi, is in Shimla. Priyanka has been in Shimla since the weekend while Sonia reached on Monday morning and Rahul joined them after attending the swearing-in of Punjab CM C S Channi.

While the party was missing in action on the ground but for a few state units, there was no word from the Gandhi siblings, who are otherwise active on social media, or from other party leaders on the protest.

Tamil Nadu, Karnataka and Manipur were among the states where the Congress organised protests in some parts. Senior party leader Jairam Ramesh tweeted a picture from Manipur's Nambol block Congress Committee. "11 opposition parties...joined the nationwide protest... The people of Manipur stand united to defeat the divisive politics and policies of Naren in Delhi and Biren in Imphal," he tweeted.

The opposition has been split on the agitation plan. The Trinamool Congress on Sunday termed as "shameful act" after official twitter handle of Manipur Congress said that the party will join the protest against the NDA government.

Cong aims to play Dalit card in Gujarat & Maha

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

AFTER zeroing in on Charanjit Channi as the first Scheduled Caste Chief Minister of Punjab, the Congress aims to play a strong Dalit card in Maharashtra and Gujarat as well by inducting more and fresh faces from the community.

As part of this well-orchestrated strategy, young SC leader Jignesh Mevani, who is an independent MLA in Gujarat, is likely to join the Congress. Besides, former Union home minister Sushil Kumar Shinde's daughter Praniti Shinde is likely to be appointed chairman of Vittal Mandir Trust or inducted into Uddhav Thackeray cabinet during future expansion.

In Maharashtra, the dominating Congress Maratha leaders are part of Maha Vikas Aghad government. These include Revenue Minister Balasaheb Thorat, PWD Minister Ashok Chavan and Satej Patil. However, to balance the power structure within the Congress, the party appointed OBC leader Nana Patole as its state chief.

"The Congress is looking to expand its base in Vidarbha, which has traditionally been the Dalit and OBC dominating region. Earlier, it was the Congress' stronghold but the BJP wrenched it from the party.

Regaining its ground in 2019, the Congress won a significant number of assembly seats in Vidarbha. It aims to further consolidate its position in the region by winning as many seats as possible, said a senior Congress leader.

Mumbai-based senior political analyst, Mangesh Kadam, said the BJP was known as a party of upper-caste Hindus. However, when it came to fielding candidates, it selected many SC leaders who got elected on reserved seats. "The Congress has taken a symbolic decision by making Channi the CM of Punjab. However, it is quite late in doing this. The BJP has ben ahead in giving more posts to Dalit and OBC leaders," said Kadam.

'Using SC leaders for votes and then dropping them is old habit of Cong'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE BJP on Monday termed the Congress decision to pick Charanjeet Singh Channi as Punjab chief minister as a short-term opportunist plank aimed at grabbing Scheduled caste votes.

Accusing the Congress of doing just lip-service to the political aspirations of SCs, BJP leader Vijay Sonkar said, "In 2003, the Congress had chosen Dalit leader Sushil Kumar Shinde as the chief minister of Maharashtra. It fought the elections with Shinde as CM in 2004. But after winning the election, the Congress chose Vilasrao Deshmukh for the post."

Referring to the appointment of Jagannath Pahadia in 1980 as the chief minister of Rajasthan, Sonkar said, "After one year, the Congress won the elections but the party replaced Pahadia with Shiv Charan Mathur. This is not the first occasion that the Congress is opting for Dalit faces as chief minister ahead of elections. The past instances show that the Congress's Dalit card is bogus," he said.

To buttress his point, the BJP leader also quoted Congress's Harish Rawat's comments that the party will contest the Punjab elections under the leadership of Navjot Singh Sidhu. Sonkar challenged the Congress leadership to commit that Channi would be allowed to remain in the CM's chair if the party wins a mandate again.

BJP national general secretary and the Punjab unit in-charge Dushyant Gautam also alleged that the Congress had resorted to the old strategy of making a Dalit as CM for a few months before the elections.

Gautam, also from the SC community, claimed the Congress often used Babur Jagjivan Ram to get SC votes but "insulted" him and even removed him from the party when it came to giving him his due.

'Will work for a Dalit CM in U'khand'

DEHRADUN: Congress's campaign in-charge for Uttarakhand Harish Rawat, who is also the AICC in-charge for Punjab, on Monday said he wanted to see a Dalit as the chief minister of the hill state. Addressing a public meeting at Laksar in Haridwar as part of the Congress's Parivartan Yatra, Rawat said, "Congress has made history not only in Punjab but in the whole of north India... When the new CM of Punjab was talking about his humble background, it brought us all to tears," Rawat said. "I pray to the Almighty, to mother Ganga that I see the son of a Dalit artisan as the CM of Uttara-khand, too, in my lifetime. We will work towards that," he said to cheers from the people in his home state. ENS

RAJNATH TALKS AF, DEF WITH US SECY

NEW DELHI: Defence Minister Rajanth Singh and US Defence Secretary Lloyd Austin had a telephonic conversation on Monday ahead of the scheduled US visit of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to attend the first in-person summit of the Quad state heads on September 24.

Singh and his US counterpart discussed a range of bilateral issues and the prevailing situation in Afghanistan. "We've agreed to continue the useful dialogue. We look forward to strengthening the partnership further," Singh later tweeted.

It was their first conversation after the Taliban seized Afghanistan on August 15. India has been inviting the US defence firms to invest in the country while asserting that there is a lot of scope for the American and Indian defence equipment manufacturers for co-production and co-development.

Speaking during the inaugural address at the 18th India-US Economic Summit, the defence minister stated that the initiatives taken by the government had transformed India into a strong and reliable investment destination. ENS

NMC says no plan to allow MBBS course in Hindi, regional language

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @New Delhi

AMID a major announcement by the Madhya Pradesh government to offer MBBS courses in Hindi and an intent declared by neighbouring Uttar Pradesh to do the same, the National Medical Commission (NMC) has said that it will not recognise it under the rules.

The medical education regulator clarified that there is no plan to amend norms to allow medicine courses in languages other than English.

On the occasion of Hindi Diwas on September 14, MP's medical education minister Vishwas Sarang had said a committee was being formed to decide on how to introduce MBBS courses, apart from paramedical courses, in Hindi in the state. In UP, too, a proposal to introduce the medicine course in Hindi is actively being considered.

Talking to this newspaper, Aruna V Vanikar, president of the undergraduate medical education board at NMC, said no state government had so far approached the commission with such a proposal, neither was that feasible.

"The rules do not approve teaching-learning MBBS in any other language other than English and there is no plan to change the existing norms," she said. "If any state government goes ahead and introduces such a course, it will not be recognised by the NMC."

Sources in Union education ministry, meanwhile, pointed out that the National Education Policy adopted by the Centre last year had a component of promoting technical education — including medicine, law and engineering courses — in mother tongue. A high-level committee under higher education secretary Amit Khare was set up last year to make suggestions and subsequently 14 engineering institutions, beginning this year, started offering the BTech course in 5 regional languages.

Experts, however, said offering medicine in mother tongue might be trickier and the experiment is unlikely to work.

In 2016, Atal Bihari Vajpayee Hindi University in MP had announced engineering and medical education in Hindi. But it could never start the MBBS course in Hindi as it didn't get the permission from the Medical Council of India, the medical education regulator then.

Ghosh, Maurya in BJP central team

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

AIMING to stem the exodus of party leaders from West Bengal, the BJP on Monday moved state unit chief Dilip Ghosh to its central team as vice president. He was replaced by Sukanta Majumdar to lead the party in Bengal. The decision came after former Union minister Babul Supriyo's move to join the Trinamool Congress left the BJP embarrassed.

The BJP's poll campaign in Bengal was hit by infighting amid the power tussle between party leaders and 'turncoats'. The dissidence didn't subside even after the state polls and a host of leaders, including MLAs, have joined the TMC.

The BJP also appointed former Uttarakhand Governor Baby Rani Maurya as party vice-president. With the induction of Ghosh and Maurya, the BJP will now have 13 vice-presidents. Maurya has previously been part of the party's Scheduled Caste cell. She was also a member of the National Commission of Women. Maurya's induction in the central team is seen to be the BJP's bid to shore up the party prospects among the SC constituency in poll-bound Uttar Pradesh.

The move to shift Ghosh is also seen as an attempt to end confusion among the ranks over the power centres in the BJP's state unit. The leadership is backing Suvendu Adhikari, who will now be helming the affairs of the saffron outfit, while Majumdar, who is the Lok Sabha MP from Balurghat constituency, will be tasked to build the cadre.

Mulayam preps for poll with peacemaker role

Besides trying to bring together Akhilesh and Shivpal, the SP patriarch is meeting partymen and boosting their morale

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE recent visit of Samajwadi Party patriarch Mulayam Singh Yadav to party office in Lucknow and the jubilation of workers are a clear manifestation of the political tenacity of the veteran, who has helmed the state twice as chief minister and the party as president since its inception till 2017.

The 81-year-old leader has flung himself into party's affairs to see his son Akhilesh back in the saddle of UP in 2022. Not only is he giving pep talks to SP workers but also playing a part in mitigating the differences between Akhilesh and his estranged uncle Shivpal Yadav and bringing them together.

Highly-placed sources in the SP claimed Shivpal and Akhilesh may reunite soon with an announcement likely to happen on Mulayam's birthday on November 22, when the entire Yadav clan would come together to wish 'Netaji'.

Political experts believe that the charisma of 'Netaji', as Mulayam is fondly called by his supporters, and his experience may come handy for Akhilesh in putting up a respectable fight against the ruling BJP.

Despite his advanced age, Mulayam is spending time at the party office in the last few weeks. He has believably made it clear to his son that if need arises, he will campaign for the party. He often meets the workers, boosts their morale and dishes out valuable tips and political advice to the cadre on how to strengthen the position of the party.

In fact, Mulayam was not seen active in public life owing to his deteriorating health and advancing age for quite some time. However, now with the 2022 Assembly polls approaching, Mulayam sits inside the SP office to spill the pearls of wisdom to partymen. At the same time, back door channels have been opened to strike a truce between Akhilesh and Shivpal and bring them on one platform before the elections.

Shivpal, meanwhile, has been saying time and again that despite his overtures, Akhilesh is showing dismal interest in going along with him in the battle for UP. "CM Yogi Adityanath comes on line immediately when I call up, but not my nephew. That is my only pain," Shivpal had said a few days ago to the media.

"Mulayam, it seems, is aware of the ground situation of his party and is keen on bringing Akhilesh and Shivpal together," says Prof AK Mishra, a political scientist. Political pundits feel the Akhilesh-Shivpal rift has neither paid Akhilesh nor Shivpal during the last 3-4 years. So, the SP patriarch wants a patch-up as it would strengthen Akhilesh who lacks the managerial skills and a robust support system.

"Netaji realises that if Akhilesh and Shivpal come together, the prospects of SP will brighten up. Currently, there is a common perception about Akhilesh that he has not been able to keep his family together. Several loyal SP voters still feel betrayed that Akhilesh deposed both his father and uncle to get control over the party. If he shakes hands with Shivpal, the blot will be washed away," says a former SP leader who quit the party when Akhilesh became its president in 2017.

ADITYANATH REACHES OUT TO JAT VOTERS

As per the state government's decision, three roads would be named after former prime minister Chaudhury Charan Singh, farmer leader Mahendra Singh Tikait and shooter Chandro Tomar.

Naga-Centre talk resumes, core demands a hurdle

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THE peace talks between the Centre and National Socialist Council of Nagalim (NSCN-IM) resumed after nearly two years with former special director of the Intelligence Bureau (IB) AK Mishra meeting the outfit's general secretary Thuingaleng Muivah in Nagaland's Dimapur on Monday.

While the Centre had stressed that it was in favour of resolving the imbroglio as soon as possible, the NSCN-IM said any solution to the issue without the "sacred Naga flag and constitution would be meaningless".

In another significant development, Assam CM Himanta Biswa Sarma and his Nagaland counterpart Neiphiu Rio will meet Muivah on Tuesday.

The peace talks had run into trouble after the Centre's interlocutor RN Ravi allegedly circulated a "doctored" version of the Framework Agreement, signed between the Centre and the group in 2015.

Muivah had maintained that only Ravi's removal from the post of interlocutor would ensure the talks' progress. Ravi was recently made the Tamil Nadu governor.

Meanwhile, NSCN-IM leader R Raising told journalists on Monday that it would be meaningless to sign any agreement that denies the Nagas their flag and constitution.

"Any agreement, which is short of the (Naga) flag and the constitution, will be unacceptable to the people and the NSCN-IM. It will be a meaningless agreement," Raising said.

The Centre is holding parallel talks with seven other groups which came together under the banner of Naga National Political Groups (NNPGs) and Raising said the NSCN-IM has already made its position clear that the solution would be inclusive.

BJP not to contest RS bypoll in Bengal

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kolkata

BJP's Bengal unit on Monday decided not to contest the Rajya Sabha bypoll, saying the "outcome is predetermined".

The party asserted that it is now focused on the by-election in Bhowanipore, where Mamata Banerjee is contesting, to ensure "the unelected CM" is "unelected" once again.

The ruling Trinamool Congress has nominated Sushmita Dev for the October 4 bypoll which was necessitated after TMC leader Manas Bhunia vacated the seat after winning the recent Assembly elections. The TMC controls 11 of 16 Rajya Sabha seats from Bengal while Congress has two and CPI(M) one.

"BJP will not nominate any candidate for the Rajya Sabha bypoll due in Bengal. The outcome is predetermined. Our focus is to make sure the unelected CM is unelected once again," Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari tweeted.

Sources in the saffron camp said the decision to skip the Rajya Sabha by-election was taken following a nod from the high command. Earlier, the BJP had did the same on August 9 which resulted in TMC nominee Jawahar Sircar entering unopposed to the Rajya Sabha.

"Our main goal is Bhowanipore bypoll. We will go all out to reduce the winning margin of TMC which was around 28,000. If we can meet our target, it will deliver a message that Mamata's popularity is waning despite her party's win," said a BJP leader.

Akhara Parishad head found dead at Prayagraj residence, three held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Lucknow

ALL India Akhara Parishad president Mahant Narendra Giri Maharaj was found hanging at his residence in Prayagraj on Monday, sending shockwave through the spiritual epicentre of Hinduism.

As per Additional DG (Law and order) Prashant Kumar, the police party comprising Prayagraj IG and DIG suspected it to be a case of suicide. However, probe was on.

The door of his room at the Baghambari Math were found to be bolted from inside. Kumar said the disciples of the Mahant broke open the door and found his body hanging from the ceiling fan. A suicide note was recovered which mentions the names of some of disciples who allegedly harassed him.

Those currently in police net include Giri and two more persons Adya and Sandip Tiwari who were also mentioned in the suicide note.

IG KP Singh asserted anything concrete could be claimed only after forensic experts examine the hand writing on the note.

Sources close to the Mahant claimed that he had a dispute with Giri about a year ago. The Mahant expelled Giri not only from Baghambari Peeth but also from Akhara Parishad. Both had levelled charges against each other. Giri, at present in Haridwar, had tendered an apology but his expulsion was not revoked.

Uma Bharti says babus are there to pick up slippers, regrets after row

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

FORMER Madhya Pradesh chief minister Uma Bharti kicked up a row after a video went viral in which she is heard saying that "the bureaucracy is nothing, but meant to pick up our slippers."

"The bureaucracy picks-up our slippers. I've been in power for 11 years, including as MP CM and then as union minister and very well know what the bureaucracy is meant for. It's we who take decisions, only after that the file is moved ahead for processing," Bharti told an OBC delegation at her residence on Saturday.

Realizing that her remarks had caused furore, she regretted using intemperate language for the bureaucracy. "I regret using intemperate language, though my intentions were good. From my experience, I can tell that honest bureaucracy always gives good company to strong and honest politicians," Bharti tweeted.

While there was no reaction from either the MP IAS Association/MP IPS Association, the opposition Congress was quick to target the ruling BJP over the issue. "While Cabinet minister Om Prakash Saklecha says it's the bureaucracy, which is running the government, Uma Bharti is saying that bureaucracy is meant for picking up slippers," state Congress general secretary (media) KK Mishra said condemning Bharti's remarks.

Earlier, on Saturday, Bharti had announced to go on protest for demanding a total ban on liquor in MP.

The series of remarks, including the controversial tweet, is being as a conscious effort to stay relevant in national politics as a powerful OBC leader and get back into reckoning in politics of MP.

Resourceful Modi confidant gets nine portfolios

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI

THE man behind the mega success of PM Narendra Modi's Madison Square Garden event in the US bagged nine portfolios in the newly-elected Gujarat Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel's council of 24 ministers.

Harsh Sanghavi (38), BJP MLA from Surat-Majura constituency, has portfolios of home, disaster management, and police housing; minister for state in sports, youth and cultural activities, NRI, excise and prohibition, border security, and prisons.

Sanghavi studied up to class ninth. A diamond merchant by profession, he is now one of the youngest ministers in Bhupendra Patel's cabinet. In the 2014 Lok Sabha polls, Sanghavi campaigned for Modi not only in Gujarat but other states as well.

"Sanghavi has a very good network in BJP. He's developed an overseas network by forming various forums like Narendra Modi Fan Club, Overseas India etc. These forums help him garner crowds to any programme of Modi in any country of the world. The good relations with Modi have paid him off today by getting him the highest numbers of portfolios at a young age," said a Gujarat-based senior journalist.

He said: "In 2015, during Patidar agitation, no one was coming forward. Many BJP leaders were in the shell, but Sanghavi came out and managed the protestors."

"Harsh is full of ideas. He is a master of event management. Therefore, in a limited period of his career, he climbed many ladders of political success.".

Sanghvi first got elected as an MLA in 2012 at the age of 27 from the Majura constituency of Surat. "Major factor behind giving several portfolios to Sanghavi could be the rise of the Aam Aadmi Party in Surat, particularly in Surat Municipal Corporation where it won 27 seats and became the main opposition party," a political observer said. "The growing clout of AAP is a major concern for the BJP. The party intends to counter it by giving opportunities to a young leader like Sanghavi," he added.

Pawar turns Ganpati devotee at his dotage?

NCP supremo Sharad Pawar has hardly been seen visiting any temple or Ganpati mandals during his more than 50 years of career. The Maratha strongman is known as an atheist, but for the last two years, Pawar, along with his wife, daughter (Supriya Sule), and son-in-law (Sadanand Sule), has been visiting the Ganesha of Chief Minister Thackeray at his official residence. This is because Pawar is the architect of Maha Vikas Aghadi government and was instrumental in making Thackeray the CM. Could it be some other reasons for Pawar for becoming a devotee of Ganpati Bappa at his dotage?

Somaiya bays for Thackeray ministers' blood

Former BJP MP Kirit Somaiya has been giving sleepless nights to the Maha Vikas Aghadi government's ministers by making allegations against them one after the other. Somaiya doesn't stop at making some wild allegations, but he is lodging complaints against the ministers with every probe agency concerned and carrying out diligent follow-up. The one-man army of Somaiya has rattled the entire establishment of the ruling alliance and they are clueless about the strategy of how to counter him and his allegations. Some of them have started filing defamation cases against Somaiya to silence him. Yet, one or two cases here and there seem unlikely to dither the former BJP parliamentarian from baying for the blood of the ruling party leaders.

Ajit Pawar aims to breach BJP citadel

Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar is known for his speed of active work. By doing this, the NCP aims to expand its party base in Navi Mumbai and Raigad regions. In Navi Mumbai, the NCP doesn't have a single MLA. The BJP enjoys absolute power in the region. Pawar aims to break this BJP citadel.

IS claims deadly bombings on Taliban vehicles

CAIRO

THE extremist Islamic State group has claimed responsibility for a series of deadly bombings targeting Taliban vehicles in eastern Afghanistan.

The claim, published late on Sunday on the terrorist group's media arm, the Aamaq news agency, signals a growing threat to the Taliban by their longtime rivals.

At least eight people, including several Taliban fighters, were killed in the attacks on Sunday and Saturday in the provincial city of Jalalabad, an IS stronghold.

The Taliban seized control of Afghanistan in a blitz campaign last month, overrunning the capital of Kabul while U.S. and NATO were in the final phase of withdrawing their troops. The last foreign soldiers left August 30.

The Taliban now face major economic and security challenges in trying to govern Afghanistan, and an accelerated campaign of IS attacks will further complicate those efforts. The Taliban and IS extremists were enemies before foreign troops left Afghanistan.

Both groups subscribe to a harsh interpretation of Islam, but the Taliban have focused on taking control of Afghanistan, while IS affiliates in Afghanistan and elsewhere call for global jihad.

Meanwhile, the interim mayor of Afghanistan's capital says many female city employees have been ordered to stay home by the country's new Taliban rulers.

Hamdullah Namony told reporters on Sunday that only women who could not be replaced by men have been permitted to report to work. He says this includes skilled workers in the design and engineering departments as well as female attendants of public toilets for women.

Namony's comments were another sign that the Taliban are enforcing their harsh interpretation of Islam, including restrictions on women in public life, despite their initial promises of tolerance and inclusion. During their previous rule in the 1990s, the Taliban had barred girls and women from schools and jobs.

The mayor says a final decision about female employees in Kabul municipal departments is still pending, and that they would draw their salaries in the meantime. AP

Trudeau's future on the line as Canadians vote

Polls indicate his Liberal Party may fail to win majority of seats; anti-incumbency a factor

OTTAWA

CANADIANS voted on Monday in a pandemic election that threatens to knock Justin Trudeau from power.

Trudeau gambled on an early election in a bid to win a majority of seats in Parliament. But the opposition has been relentless in accusing Trudeau of calling an unnecessary early vote during the pandemic — two years before the deadline — for his own personal ambition.

Polls indicate Trudeau's Liberal Party is in a tight race with the rival Conservatives: It will likely win the most seats in Parliament, but still fail to get a majority, forcing it to rely on an opposition party to pass legislation.

"Trudeau made an incredibly stupid error in judgement," said Robert Bothwell, a professor of Canadian history at the University of Toronto. Trudeau entered the election leading a stable minority government that wasn't under threat of being toppled.

He channeled the star power of his father, the Liberal icon and late Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, when he first won in 2015, however a combination of high expectations, scandal and calling the election last month during the pandemic have hurt his brand.

Trudeau is betting that Canadians will reward him for navigating the coronavirus crisis better than most countries did. Canada is now one of the most vaccinated nations in the world and Trudeau's government spent hundreds of billions of dollars to prop up the economy amid lockdowns.

But after six years in power, his administration is showing signs of fatigue, and it's been an uphill battle for him to convince Canadians to stick with his Liberals after falling short of high expectations set in his 2015 landslide win.

Conservative leader Erin O'Toole didn't require his party's candidates to be vaccinated and won't say how many are unvaccinated.

A Conservative win would represent a rebuke of Trudeau, who now is at risk of losing office to a politician with a fraction of his own name recognition. O'Toole, 47, is a military veteran, former lawyer and a member of Parliament for nine years. AP

Full vaccinated people from India may soon visit US without quarantine

WASHINGTON

THE US on Monday announced a new international travel system under which fully vaccinated individuals would be allowed to enter the country beginning in November.

This essentially also lifts the travel ban on countries like India that the US had earlier enforced. Former president Donald Trump had imposed a blanket ban on foreign travellers from entering the US at the start of the coronavirus pandemic in early 2020.

Vaccinated people from countries like India can now travel to the US with proof of their vaccination, White House officials said. It wasn't immediately clear if the new rule only applied to US-approved vaccines or if other brands would also qualify. "Today we're announcing a new international air travel system. This new system includes strict protocols to prevent the spread of Covid-19 from passengers flying into the United States, protecting Americans and making international air travel safer," White House Covid-19 Response Coordinator Jeff Zients told reporters during a virtual news conference.

The US, he said, with science and public health as its guide, has developed a new international air travel system that both enhances the safety of Americans here at home and enhances the safety of international air travel. "Most importantly, beginning in early November, foreign nationals flying to the US will be required to be fully vaccinated and they must show proof of vaccination prior to boarding a US bound airplane," he said.

Responding to a question on the existing quarantine requirements and travel ban from countries like India, Brazil, UK, China, Iran and South Africa, Zients said early November the US will move to this new system. "It will require for nationals to be vaccinated, to prove they're vaccinated, and then to go to the testing and contract tracing regimens," he said.

"For (fully) vaccinated travellers it is not required to be a quarantine going forward," he said. Zients said fully vaccinated travellers will need to complete pre-departure testing within three days prior to departure to the US and show proof of a negative test. Furthermore, any unvaccinated Americans returning to the US are subject to stricter testing requirements.

Meanwhile, Air Canada announced that it has resumed its flight services to India after five months. PTI

Gotabaya, UN chief discuss reconciliation

Sri Lanka President Gotabaya Rajapaksa on Monday said he held a 'fruitful discussion' with UN Secretary General Antonio Guterres on ways to jointly promote "reconciliation" in the country as the only way to move towards a prosperous future. Rajapaksa, who is in the US for the high-level United Nations General Assembly session, called on Secretary General Guterres at the UN headquarters in New York on Sunday. During the meeting, Guterres told Rajapaksa about the need to protect minority rights in Sri Lanka, the Colombo Gazette newspaper reported. The two leaders also discussed economic recovery in the face of the Covid-19 pandemic besides ensuring uninterrupted education in the island country.

Govt says no evidence of alleged Chinese cyber attack

Indonesian authorities have found no evidence that the country's main intelligence service's computers were compromised, after a US-based private cybersecurity company alerted them of a suspected breach of its internal networks by a Chinese hacking group. The Insikt Group, a division of Massachusetts-based Recorded Future, said it discovered the hack in April when it detected malware servers operated by the 'Mustang Panda' group communicating with hosts inside Indonesian govt networks.

Hindus harrased for drinking mosque water

Fetching drinking water from a mosque in Pakistan's Punjab province landed a family of poor farmers from the minority Hindu community in trouble as some people tortured and held them hostage for 'violating the sanctity' of their place of worship, a media report said on Monday. Alam Ram Bheel, a resident of Punjab's Rahimyar Khan city, was picking raw cotton along with his other family members, including his wife, in a field. Bheel said when the family went outside a nearby mosque to fetch drinking water from a tap, some local landlords beat them up, the Dawn newspaper reported. When the family was returning home after unloading the picked cotton, the landlords held them hostage at their dera and tortured them again for 'violating the sanctity' of the mosque, it said.

RUSSIAN CITY IN SHOCK AFTER STUDENT OPENS FIRE AT UNIVERSITY KILLING SIX

MOSCOW

A student opened fire on Monday at a university in Russia, leaving six people dead and 28 hurt, before being detained by the police, officials said.

Beyond saying that he was a student, authorities offered no further information on his identity or possible motive.

During the attack, students and staff at Perm State University locked themselves in rooms, and video posted on Russian news sites showed some students jumping out of second-story windows.

In some footage, a black-clad, helmeted figure could be seen striding on a campus sidewalk cradling a long-barreled weapon. Russia's Investigative Committee, the country's top body for criminal probes, said the gunman fired a smoothbore hunting weapon. That could indicate he used a shotgun.

The Investigative Committee said six people were killed, revising down its earlier figure of eight dead. No explanation was given for the change.

All Indian students safe

All Indian students studying at the university are safe, the Indian Embassy here has said. Expressing shock at the "horrific" attack, the embassy also offered its deep condolences for the loss of lives in the shooting at the state university.

"Shocked at horrific attack at Perm State University in Russia; our deep condolences for the loss of life and best wishes for early recovery of those injured," the Indian Embassy in Russia tweeted. "Embassy is in touch with local authorities. All Indian students at Perm State Medical University are safe," it said. Agencies

25-yr jail for Hotel Rwanda hero on terror charges

Kigali: Paul Rusesabagina, the Hotel Rwanda hero who became a fierce government critic, was sentenced to 25 years in prison on terrorism charges after what his supporters labelled a politically motivated show trial. He was convicted by a high court in Kigali of forming a rebel group blamed for deadly gun, grenade and arson attacks in Rwanda in 2018 and 2019. "He founded a terrorist organisation that attacked Rwanda," Justice Beatrice Mukamurenzi said. Rusesabagina, who used his fame to denounce Rwandan leader Paul Kagame as a dictator, has been behind bars since August 2020.

CARS24 RAISES $450 MN, VALUE HITS $1.84 BN

SoftBank Vision Fund 2, DST Global and Falcon Edge Capital take part in funding

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

INDIA'S used car online marketplace is attracting attention from big venture capital funds since the onset of the pandemic. On Monday, Cars24, which entered the unicorn club last year, announced closing of $450 million fund raising round(Series F) which was led by SoftBank Vision Fund 2, DST Global and Falcon Edge Capital at a $1.84 billion valuation.

The e-commerce firm said that the investment round included a $340 mn Series F equity round alongside $110 mn debt from diversified financial institutions.

The funding round also saw the participation of Tencent along with existing investors Moore Strategic Ventures and Exor Seeds.

The startup, which primarily started-off as a marketplace for selling refurbished cars, also expanded to provide servicing and insurance to these cars. Cars24 is now a one-stop shop for both selling as well as helping buyers source finance options to purchase used cars.

With the latest investment, Cars24 said that it will expand its global presence as well as further build its cars, bikes and financing business in India, while continuing to invest in technology that delivers the best customer experience possible.

Besides India, Cars24 had a phenomenal success rate in Australia and UAE. The company has already sold over 1,000 cars in the UAE since the launch of its operations in April this year. Cars24 also officially announced its launch with a new campaign last week in Australia.

"Traditionally, car selling or buying have been a tiresome process, and only 2 of 100 people own cars in India. However, over the last six years, we have been working continuously towards fulfilling the dreams of many Indians to own a car by transforming the customer's journey- 'the CARS24 way' that is hassle-free, safe and transparent. With this investment, we will continue to penetrate into existing car, bikes and financing business in India while venturing into new overseas geographies this year," Vikram Chopra, Co-founder & CEO, Cars24, said.

China realtor triggers crash as mrkts watch Fed

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AMID weak global cues ahead of the US Fed meet (FMOC) and expected collapse of Chinese realty giant Evergrande, equity markets worldwide plummeted on Monday. BSE Sensex crashed 524 points (0.89%) to settle at 58,490.93 while the Nifty50 ended at 17,396.90, down 188.25 points (1.07%).

Similarly, Down Jones tanked over 500 points on Monday (9 pm IST) while NASDAQ and S&P 500 futures were down by over 1%. Other global markets such as Hang Seng ended over 3% lower and stock exchanges in Europe ended the session with steep losses.

"Amidst heightened volatility and weak global cues, the Nifty Metal Index plunged almost 7% in late afternoon trade today. As global markets corrected fearing the contagion around the Chinese developer, risk aversion was seen across markets. Barring the FMCG pack, the market breadth was extremely weak with sectoral indices trading in the red," said S Ranganathan, Head of Research at LKP securities.

Tata Steel was among the worst performers on the bourses on Monday, skidding 10%. Other metal stocks such as Jindal Steel & Power, Hindalco and National Aluminium Company also fell sharply after future prices for steel making raw materials fell in China on reports that Beijing may introduce strict air pollution measures in more cities and concerns surrounding Evergrande whose shares plummeted over 10% on the Hang Seng on Monday. There are worries that the biggest Chinese developer may fail to repay a small portion of its massive $305 billion debt due on September 23. This, according to experts, poses a big risk to Chinese equity market and possibly far beyond.

"Indian markets finally seem to be taking a small pause, largely driven by nervousness in the global markets. Two key factors playing on the minds of global investors include the upcoming Fed meeting and the uncertainty building up in the Chinese real estate market due to stress on one of the major property players in the country," said Milind Muchhala, Executive Director, Julius Baer.

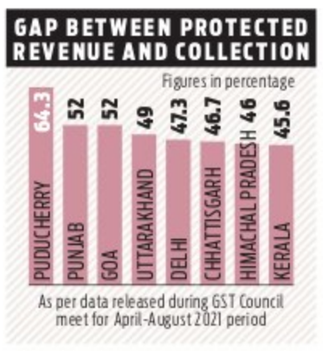
States GST revenue deficit at 34% in first 5 months of FY22 as collections hit

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

EVEN as the Centre has decided against extending the compensation given to states for revenue loss due to implementation of GST after June 2022, the revenue deficit of the states do not present a very rosy picture.

Barring three north-eastern states and Sikkim, all other states/UTs have reported revenue deficit ranging from 23% to 65% during April-August 2021. On an aggregate basis the average gap between the protected revenue and actual collection is 34%.

This deficit is arrived at after subtracting actual state GST revenue from the protected revenue promised by the Centre. As per the formula of the protected revenue, states GST revenue is assumed to grow at 14% every year starting from 2015-16.



According to data provided in the agenda of the recently concluded 45th GST Council meeting, Puducherry has reported biggest revenue deficit with the gap between protected revenue and actual collection at 64.3% during April-August 2021. Puducherry is followed by Punjab and Goa (52% deficit), Uttarakhand (49%), Delhi (47.3%), Chhattisgarh (46.7%), Himachal Pradesh (46%) and Kerala (45.6%).

Other states which have reported over 40% deficit are Jammu and Kashmir (41%) and Karnataka (40.8%).

Among those which have showed lowest deficit during the April-August period are Telangana (23.4%) and Andhra Pradesh (25.5%).

TS Singhdeo, commercial tax minister of Chhattisgarh, said the 5-year period for compensating states was decided on the basis that high economic growth would ensure states make good of the losses. "However, even before the pandemic hit, the economy was already decelerating making it difficult for states to increase their GST revenue," he said.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

According to a circular issued by the Budget division, the pre-budget meetings as well as meetings for discussing revised estimates will begin from October 12 onwards.

The upcoming budget is crucial given the devastation caused by the second Covid wave, and keeping in view many assembly elections and the upcoming Lok Sabha elections. Officials claim that the focus of the Union Budget for 2022-23 is likely to be on job creation, infrastructure sector, according to the information sought from all departments for the pre-budgetary consultations.

"Generally pre election budget carry many populist issues. So the budget has to focus on most of the economic reforms, along with the revival of demand and job creation, amid the slowing economic growth. This Union Budget, likely to be presented on February 1, 2022, will be fourth budget of the NDA-2 and the third Budget by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman. Financial advisors have been asked to ensure that all concerned details regarding statement of budgetary estimates as well as demand for grants should be made available, as it would be required for all the pre-budget consultations, the circular said.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

UNDERLINING the sharp increase in the number of companies shifting focus on enhancing their sustainability quotients, telecom services major Bharti Airtel announced on Monday that it now aims to reduce its greenhouse emissions by 50% by fiscal year 2030-31.

In a statement, the company said that it has pledged to reduce its carbon footprint and emissions from its network operations and will achieve these overarching goals through multiple interventions. Skoda Kushaq bookings cross 10k-mark since June

SKODA Auto India has achieved the milestone of 10,000 bookings for newly launched mid-size SUV Kushaq. Launched in June at starting price of ₹10.5 lakh, Kushaq marked a new begining for the Czech automaker which is leading the Volkswagen group's India 2.0 program.

The SUV, which competes against segment leader Hyundai Creta and Kia Seltos, is the first model built on an all-new vehicle platform from the Volkswagen group. The German automaker is itself getting ready to launch a similar vehicle under its brand portfolio- the Volkswagen Taigun on September 23.

However, stiff competition for Kushaq will come around early next month when MG Motor would be launching its mid-size SUV Astor. Expected to carry a similar price tag, MG's upcoming SUV is loaded with segment-first features such as ADAS, blind-spot monitoring, lane-keep assist and automatic emergency braking and a robot-type digital AI assistant.

KOTAK Mahindra Bank has taken a 9.98% stake in Hyderabad-based fintech solution provider KFin Technologies Private Limited for ₹310 crore.

The management of Kotak Mahindra Bank says the acquisition of stake is purely for the purpose of investment, and there would be no operational synergy between the two after the acquisition.

Videocon lenders make U-turn, want fresh bids

AFTER getting rapped for accepting Vedanta group's bid that would give just 5% of their outstanding loans, lenders to Videocon Industries on Monday approached the insolvency appellate tribunal NCLAT seeking fresh bids for the debt-laden consumer durable firm.

Billionaire Anil Agarwal's Twin-Star Technologies had offered ₹2,962 crore to takeover Videocon Industries, which was 4.15% of the admitted claims of ₹64,838.63 crore of lenders.

SBI, the leading lender of Videocon Industries, has approached the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) requesting for a re-bidding of the 13 companies of the debt-ridden group, on account of strong observations against ₹2,962 crore takeover bid by Anil Agarwal's Twin Star Technologies.

SBI, on behalf of assenting creditors of Videocon, which represents 94.98% voting had filed an application before the NCLAT requesting to remand back the matter to the Committee of Creditors (CoC) for reconsideration and allow to conduct a fresh process of inviting bids. A two-member NCLAT bench headed by Justice Jarat Kumar Jain and Kanthi Narahari, Member, has posted the matter for further hearings on September 27.

SBI, a lead financial creditor in the CoC with an 18.05% voting share, has said that the Mumbai Bench of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT), while approving ₹2,962 crore bid by Twin-Star Technologies has made certain observations over the low-resolution plan and haircut suffered by various class of stakeholders.

Even the NCLAT, while granting an interim stay over the resolution plan and NCLT approval, had said that there are "exceptional facts" into the matter. Earlier on June 9, the Mumbai bench of the NCLT had approved ₹2,962 crore takeover bid by Twin Star Technologies. PTI

CIL and Prabha Energy sign ₹1,880-cr pact for methane extraction

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

COAL India subsidiary Bharat Coking Coal (BCCL) announced on Monday that it has signed a ₹1,880 crore revenue sharing agreement with Ahmedabad-based Prabha Energy under which the two companies will commercially extract coal bed methane (CBM) from a local block in Jharkhand.

Coal bed methane (CBM) is an unconventional form of natural gas found in coal deposits or coal seams.

"BCCL, on Monday, signed a first of its kind revenue sharing contract worth tentatively ₹1,880 crore for commercial extraction of coal bed methane with CBM developer Prabha Energy Private Limited, selected through a global bidding process," Coal India (CIL) said.

According to CIL, BCCL will be putting in close to ₹370 crore towards the cost of the land in the Jharia Block 1, while the rest will be met by the CBM developer. BCCL will hold the lease of the land being developed for CBM extraction.

Land in Jharia Block 1

BCCL will put in close to ₹370 cr towards the cost of the land in the Jharia Block 1, while the rest will be met by the CBM developer. BCCL will hold the lease of the land

"With this CIL would be stepping into a new era of CBM extraction on its own in its leasehold area," CIL said. The coal miner has assigned CMPDI, its Ranchi-based consultancy arm, as the principal implementing agency for the project.

The Jharia CBM Block-I has reserves of around 25 billion cubic metres (BCM) and average production capacity is estimated at 1.3 million metric standard cubic metres per day once commercial operations begin.

The CBM project is scheduled to be carried out in three phases. The first phase will be exploration and cover the first two years, the second three-year phase will involve piloting, and the final production phase will last 30 years.

Relief for domestic cricketers

Board announces compensation package for players affected by Covid-hit season

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

THE pay-hike that Indian domestic cricketers have been waiting for nearly two years is finally here. The Apex Council of the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI), which met virtually on Monday, approved a substantial increase in match fees for men and women beginning with the domestic season. The hike is across all age-groups, and in the absence of a centralised contract system, the board has introduced different slabs for senior men alone. Going by percentage, a senior men's player who has played more than 40 matches (irrespective of format) has been handed a 41.6 per cent hike, while a senior women's player has been handed 37.5 per cent hike.

The BCCI also rolled out a compensation package for the curtailed 2020-21 domestic season which did not include the Ranji Trophy. Those who played the 2019-20 season are eligible for this and 50 per cent of their earnings will be counted as compensation fee. For example, if a player earned ₹10 lakh in 2019-20 season, he/she would get ₹5 lakh.

CURRENT PAY STRUCTURE			REVISED PAY FROM 2021-22 DOMESTIC SEASON (IN ₹)
Men's	Playing XI	Reserves	XI (upto 20 matches)	Reserves	XI (21-40 matches)	Reserves	XI (Above 40 matches)	Reserves
Senior	35,000	17,500	40,000	20,000	50,000	25,000	60,000	30,000
U-23	17,500	8,750	25,000	12,500	25,000	12,500	25,000	12,500
U-19	10,500	5,250	20,000	10,000	20,000	10,000	20,000	10,000
U-16	3,500	1,750	7,000	3,500	7,000	3,500	-	-
Women's
Senior	12,500	6,250	20,000	10,000	-	-	-	-
U-23	5,500	2,750	10,000	5,000	-	-	-	-
U-19	5,500	2,750	10,000	5,000	-	-	-	-
U-16	5,500	2,750	10,000	5,000	-	-	-	-

Curiously, the BCCI has not made any decision regarding the compensation package for umpires, match officials, video-analysts and scorers. Sans a professional contract and a full domestic season, not all of them got game time and as highlighted by this newspaper before, some are without any income since March 2020. There are indications that the board will take up the matter at the annual general meeting, but sources indicated that a compensation package is highly unlikely for match officials at this stage.

With regards to the pay hike, the BCCI has introduced three slabs based on the number of matches — upto 20 matches, 21-40 matches and 41 matches and above. This means a player featuring in the XI, depending on his experience will get ₹40,000, ₹50,000 and ₹60,000 respectively. Those who are on the bench will get half of it. Earlier, there was only one pay bracket under which those who were part of playing XI, pocketed ₹35,000 per day and reserves half of it.

"If a central contract system was in place, it would have had different slabs depending on the seniority. We have tried to do the same here, where we have tried to honour those who are consistent. The more you play, higher is the pay and it is with this in mind that we have not included any format restrictions," a board official told.

This means even if a player is making his Ranji Trophy debut, but has played more than 40 matches in white-ball cricket, he would earn ₹60,000 per day.

Gender pay gap remains

The disparity in pay continues to remain. For example, an U-23 male (U-25 for this season) will get ₹25,000 per day, but a senior women cricketer will get only ₹20,000 even if she happens to be an India international.

Kolkata's Knight: Bowlers set up facile win over RCB

ASHIM SUNAM @ Bengaluru

EVEN before a single ball was bowled in the clash between Royal Challengers Bangalore and Kolkata Knight Riders in Abu Dhabi on Monday, all eyes were on Virat Kohli. Apart from the game being his 200th for Bangalore, the 32-year-old's decision to quit T20 captaincy — both for India and RCB — has put the spotlight on Kohli's every move even more than usual.

With five wins from seven games in the first leg of the competition, Bangalore were eager to continue from where they left off in early May. But the landmark game for Kohli did not go according to plan with the skipper being dismissed for just five. In the first half of the season, when Kohli failed, someone or the other in the top five always delivered. That clearly wasn't the case against Kolkata as Bangalore were bowled out for a paltry 92. Kolkata had absolutely no trouble in the run chase as they cruised to a comprehensive nine-wicket win with exactly 10 overs to spare. Debutant Venkatesh Iyer made a mark for KKR with an unbeaten 41 off 27 balls.

Having just collected four points from seven matches in the first leg, Kolkata looked determined to set things in order, with Varun Chakravarthy and Andre Russell scalping three wickets apiece. The night primarily belonged to the Indian mystery spinner, who once again showed that the decision to select him in India's squad for the T20 World Cup was the right one.

For Bangalore, though Devdutt Padikkal looked in decent touch, debutant KS Bharat could not score freely, inviting pressure on not just himself but also the others to follow. And when the dependable AB de Villiers was out for a golden duck, they were reeling at 52/4. The pensive faces in the Bangalore dugout narrated the entire story, with Glenn Maxwell being their only hope of reaching a respectable total at that stage.

It was a tricky situation for Maxwell. With no frontline batsman to follow, he could not play his natural game. At one point, he was batting on 9 off 15 balls and boundaries were hard to come by. With Sachin Baby also not able to score at the other end, the Australian tried to break the shackles but he was bowled by Varun. Off the very next ball, Varun sent back Sri Lankan Wanindu Hasaranga. It also exposed the lack of depth in the Bangalore set-up.

When Kolkata's turn came to bat, they looked in utter control. With a small target to chase, they did not have any sort of scoreboard pressure. Shubman Gill (48) and Iyer had boundaries on their mind in an effort to finish the match as early as possible and better their net run rate having started the second leg in the bottom half of the table. The thumping victory has taken Kolkata to the fifth spot.

Brief scores: RCB 92 in 19 ovs (Padikkal 22; Chakravarthy 3/13) lost to KKR 94/1 in 10 ovs (Gill 48, V Iyer 41 n.o).

RAJASTHAN ROYALS VS PUNJAB KINGS

HEAD-TO-HEAD

MATCHES: 22 | RAJASTHAN WINS: 12 | PUNJAB WINS: 9 | TIED: 1

BOTH TEAMS RAVAGED BY PULL-OUTS

The contest between Rajasthan Royals and Punjab Kings will be as much about the absentees as it is about those who take the field on Tuesday. Royals are missing Jos Buttler, Ben Stokes and Jofra Archer while Punjab, too, don't have the services of Dawid Malan — the top-ranked T20 batsman in the world — and pacers Jhye Richardson and Riley Meredith. The two teams have managed to rope in some decent replacements, but it remains to be seen whether they can fill in adequately.

IPL DEBUT FOR RASHID

Adil Rashid has been a notable performer in T20 format for over a decade now but was never able to earn the attention of the IPL franchises. As a result of some withdrawals, the 33-year-old has finally got a chance to show his worth. He should enjoy the slow surfaces and big boundaries in the UAE.

SAMSON NEEDS TO BE MORE CONSISTENT

Sanju Samson's inconsistency with the bat makes him a polarising figure. Blessed with oodles of stroke-making ability, he dazzles in one game and flounders inexplicably in the next. Having had a disappointing limited-overs tour of Sri Lanka, he wasn't in the fray for a spot in India's squad for the T20 WC. He will need to put the disappointment behind him and have a productive time in the UAE for the Royals to go far this season.

Natl camp attendance should not be a must for selection: Manika's plea

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY @ New Delhi

MANIKA Batra's exclusion from the Indian team for the upcoming Asian Championship has now made it to the Delhi High Court and the matter was heard on Monday with the court granting two days to the counsel appearing for the Centre in order to seek further instructions on the plea of the paddler.

The plea states that rules regarding the national camp attendance being mandatory for selection should be quashed and Manika should be included in the team for the tournament which starts in November. Also, the affairs of TTFI and of Soumyadeep Roy, who was the coach and allegedly asked her to tank an Olympic qualification match, should be looked into by the sports ministry. Senior Advocate Sachin Dutta was appearing for the CWG gold medallist.

"The Petitioner also prayed for the following final reliefs: 1. A Writ of Certiorari or any other writ, order or direction quashing the Rules and Regulations titled as "Rules and Regulations for National Camp" dated 04.08.2021 issued by Respondent No 1

2. A Writ of Mandamus or any other writ, order or direction thereby directing the Respondent No 1 to include the name of the Petitioner in the contingent representing India in the upcoming Asian Table Tennis Championship; and

3. A Writ of Mandamus or any other writ, order or direction thereby directing the Respondent No 2 (Union of India through Ministry of Youth Affairs) to enquire into the management of the Respondent No 1; conduct of Respondent No 3 and other officials of Respondent No 1 as detailed in the present petition and the email of the Petitioner dated 14.08.2021 and the Representation sent by the Petitioner to Respondent No 1 dated 17.09.2021 and Respondent No 2 dated 17.09.2021 under the supervision of this Hon'ble Court."

The counsel for the federation denied all allegations and said that the national coach was not even present at the national camp. "Table tennis is an individual sport, which requires specialised training with support staff. Only the personal coach would know the strengths, weaknesses, skills and areas that a player should focus on and strengthen. However, these rules do not permit any personal coach / support staff..."

The matter will be heard again on September 23.

Harmanpreet to miss 1st ODI

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

TWENTY FOUR unbeaten ODIs. The Australian women's cricket team, it's fair to say, is one of sport's uncompromising juggernauts, a battering ram of a side. They turn up, they win, they go home, no fuss. During this run, the margin of their three wins against India, against whom they began the undefeated run, is an indication of how just powerful they are. An eight-wicket win with 107 balls to spare, a 60-run win and a 97-run win.

On Tuesday, when the hosts take the field against the visiting Indian outfit in the first of three ODIs, it's fair to say that the former will begin favourites. That's even before you legislate for the fact that Harmanpreet Singh will be missing the match due to an injury. That was the big news from the pre-match press conference. However, India's planning and focus will probably go beyond what happens in Mackay this week. With a 50-over World Cup coming up in six months, this series is a glorious chance to lock down a few combinations and look at a few other options.

One of the larger goals that coach Ramesh Powar alluded to is for the team to touch the 250 mark, easier said than done as the Indians have crossed that mark only once while batting first since the beginning of 2019. ""We have set targets," Powar said. "Batting unit scoring 250..." To achieve this on a consistent basis, the make-up of the middle order, including adding hitters, is key. "Whether I bat No 3 or 4 depends on the middle order," skipper Mithali Raj said. "With Harmanpreet out, it will depend on that probably."

Where the likes of Jemimah Rodrigues, who impressed in The Hundred after disappointing against England, fit in is another puzzle that the coming week may reveal.

"Jemimah is part of our thought process," Powar said. "It's about combination... she may or may not play."

In the one and only tour match on Saturday, she sat out as Powar & Co. went with a middle-order of Yastika Bhatia (No 4), Richa Ghosh (No 5), Pooja Vastrakar (No 6) and Deepti Sharma (No 7). Three of those four got stuck in but allowed pressure to build with too many dot balls. In the end, that pressure told and the visitors fell short by 36 runs.

Should Miyawaki forests be adopted to green every cityscape?

It is a well known fact that forests can be an ally for humans in the fight against climate change. However, tree cover nearly four times the size of Goa was lost in India between 2001 and 2018. Into this complex scenario, where afforestation goals collide with the juggernaut of land availability, comes the Miyawaki method that allows forest to grow 10 times faster in small patches of land. Recently, Chhattisgarh announced plans to convert 3,777 acres of mined-out land into the nation's largest manmade forest using this technique. So, have we found our holy grail? We take a look

The Miyawaki way

Akira Miyawaki was a Japanese botanist who popularised the Potted Seedling Method or the Miyawaki technique

The Miyawaki way

It is an afforestation method where native species are chosen to create dense, multilayered forests that can self sustain after 2 years. It can be created in small patches of land making it an attractive option

EXPLAINER

Forest area is land under natural or planted stands of trees of at least 5 meters in situ, whether productive or not, and excludes agricultural systems]

30 times

Miyawaki technique has 30 times more capacity to absorb CO_2 than monoculture

20K to 30K

Miyawaki method can accomodate 20,000 to 30,000 seedlings/hectare

THE PROCESS

- The area where a Miyawaki forest is to be created is surveyed for soil texture, carbon content, pH and natural vegetation
- Plant species that would have existed without human impact are chosen as the native species of the land
- Nearest natural forests are visited to shortlist the native species and discover ways in which plant species might interact and support each other

Criticisms against the technique

Experts warn that Miyawaki can in no way be a replacement for the natural forests. In coastal areas like Chennai, where the only dense forests are mangroves, native trees are the ones that sprawl rather than growing straight up. Also, there could be high costs in raising trees in a degraded land

Questions left unanswered

- Could the Miyawaki technique be used even in areas where there is a natural absence of dense forest growth?
- Does dense planting allow large trees like teak to fully mature and produce natural canopies?
- What kind of animals benefit from these dense plantations?

FOOTPRINTS ACROSS THE GLOBE

In India, multiple states including Chhattisgarh, Gujarat, Kerala & Telangana have adopted the technique. In the Mediterranean ecosystems, the system was used starting from 2000. Pakistan, China & Japan have rapidly adopted the technique

WHAT ATTRACTS?

The forest sequesters carbon, supports wildlife, recharges ground water and improves air quality. It helps fight the urban heat island effect,the condition where an urban area is warmer than its surrounding rural areas

Covid-19 speeds innovation shift from the West to Asia

Switzerland tops the Global Innovaion Index 2021 for the 11th year; India and China among middle-income nations that are catching up

INNOVATION

GENEVA: The Covid-19 pandemic sped up the shift of innovation from Europe and North America towards Asia, UN world rankings showed on Monday.

The Global Innovation Index 2021, from the United Nations' World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), showed surging performances by South Korea and China.

"The pandemic has accelerated the long-term geographical shift of innovation activities toward Asia, even if Northern America and Europe continue to host some of the world's leading innovators," said WIPO.

While the top four in the global rankings remained the same as last year — with Switzerland leading for the 11th year running followed by Sweden, the United States and Britain — South Korea leapt five places to fifth.

The index found "substantial increases in brand values in Korea, in trademarks being filed, but also in cultural and creative services exports," index co-editor Sacha Wunsch-Vincent told reporters, citing the K-Pop phenomenon.

The Netherlands, Finland, Singapore, Denmark and Germany round out the top 10.

Meanwhile China continued its progress towards the top 10 and is still the only middle-income economy in the top 30, up two places to number 12.

Wunsch-Vincent said the country's innovation players were individually strong and China was now trying to connect them better "so that public research feeds into commercial innovation".

As the world looks to rebuild from the pandemic, we know that innovation is integral to overcoming the common challenges that we face

Daren Tang, WIPO director general

Turkey (41), Vietnam (44), India (46) and the Philippines (51) are the only other middle-income nations that are systematically catching up.

"Beyond China, these four particularly large economies together have the potential to change the global innovation landscape for good," WIPO said. The index ranks 132 economies. Among low income countries, Rwanda leads the way in 102nd place, ahead of Tajikistan at 103rd position and Malawi at 107th.

WIPO's index found that countries and businesses increased investments in innovation despite the Covid-19 crisis, in a bid to stimulate post-pandemic economic growth.

Scientific output, research and development, IP filings and venture capital deals continued to grow in 2020.

Companies whose innovations revolved around measures to contain the pandemic and its effects — particularly pharmaceuticals and information technology — redoubled their innovation investments.

However, sectors hit hard by coronavirus restrictions, such as travel, cut back.

"Many sectors have shown remarkable resilience — especially those that have embraced digitalisation, technology and innovation," said WIPO director general Daren Tang.

"As the world looks to rebuild from the pandemic, we know that innovation is integral to overcoming the common challenges that we face."

Wunsch-Vincent highlighted that beyond top research and development spenders such as Australia, Germany, Japan and the United States of America, which all increased investments, "seven out of 10 economies still devote less than one percent of GDP to R&D".

"What COVID has done is that it has disrupted certain industries, but it has accelerated certain industries," Tang said in an interview. Overall, the WIPO report said, "the global innovation landscape is changing too slowly. ... There is urgent need for this to change."

Over 1 lakh flee due to climate change

Families that had solid homes have shifted to tents in Burundi | AFP

CLIMATE

NAIROBI: Natural disasters sparked by climate change have forced more than 100,000 people to flee their homes in Burundi in recent years, British charity Save the Children said in a new report released on Monday.

It said climate shocks — not conflict — were now the main cause of internal displacement in the landlocked East African country, which has a largely rural population.

"Over 84% of all internally displaced people in Burundi... have been displaced due to natural disasters rather than conflict, mostly due to the rise of Lake Tanganyika, Africa's second-largest lake," the charity said.

Children have been particularly hard-hit, it said, adding: "An estimated 7,200 of the displaced people — or 7 percent of the total number — are babies under the age of one."

Older children are unable to attend school, with many surviving on just one meal a day.

Arielle, a teenager whose home was swallowed up in the middle of the night by the lake's rising waters, told Save the Children that she struggled to eke out a living, earning $1.20 a day for carrying and stacking bricks. "I eat most days, but some days I miss meals altogether," the 17-year-old said.

A gross injustice

Displaced farmers told that flooding disasters had intensified in recent years. "The situation with flooding has become worse than it used to be. This time, the flood came over everything and never went back," said Marie, a mother-of-three. "I fear the children are going to die from hunger."

Maggie Korde, the charity's country director for Rwanda and Burundi, warned: "The world seems to have forgotten Burundi, yet it's bearing the brunt of global climate change. We are seeing families that previously had solid homes, all children in school, and two working parents, reduced to living in tents with no employment & no food," she said.

BIS warns of green investments bubble

ECOLOGY

ZURICH: The Bank for International Settlements, considered the central bank of central banks, warned on Monday of a potential bubble forming around the boom for so-called green investments.

In its quarterly review, BIS said the financial markets have been sending "mixed signals" in recent months, reflecting "investor unease" about the economic prospects ahead. The institution focused in on green investments, along with technology stocks, which are also in very high demand. "Demand for investment products classified as delivering environmental, social and governance (ESG) benefits is booming," BIS said.

It said the growth of the overall ESG market was riding mostly on investors' focus on environmental considerations, particularly in fixed income markets.

There are signs that ESG assets' valuations may be stretched. However, quantifying the expansion of these assets remains complex given the vagueness of the criteria used. Some estimates indicate that ESG assets rose by nearly one third between 2016 and 2020 to $35 trillion, or no less than 36 percent of total professionally managed assets.

Swarm of bees kill penguins

WILDLIFE

A swarm of bees has killed 63 endangered African penguins on a beach outside Cape Town, the Southern African Foundation for the Conservation of Coastal Birds said on Sunday. "After tests, we found bee stings around the penguins' eyes," said the foundation's David Roberts, a clinical veterinarian. "This is a very rare occurence. We do not expect it to happen often, its a fluke. "There were also dead bees on the scene," he told AFP. The protected birds were from a colony at Simonstown, a small town near Cape Town. The area is a national park and the Cape honey bees are part of the ecosystem. "The penguins... must not die just like that as they are already in danger of extinction. They are a protected species," said Roberts.

Jabs safe for children: Pfizer

MEDICINE

Pfizer and BioNTech said trial results showed their coronavirus vaccine was safe and produced a robust immune response in children aged five to 11, adding that they would seek regulatory approval shortly. The vaccine would be given at a lower dosage than for people over 12. "In participants five to 11 years of age, the vaccine was safe, well tolerated and showed robust neutralising antibody responses," US giant Pfizer and its German partner said in a joint statement. They plan to submit their data to regulatory bodies in the EU, the US and around the world "as soon as possible". The trial results are the first of their kind for children under 12, with a Moderna trial for six-11 year olds still ongoing.

RAYS OF HOPE

Beams of light via air provide high-speed internet in Africa

TECHNOLOGY

A NOVEL method of delivering high-speed internet using narrow, invisible beams of light through air has been successfully used in Africa.

The idea came from Project Loon of Alphabet (created from restructuring Google) that tried using balloons in stratosphere to provide internet. Project Loon was however shut down in February 2021 due to its unviability.

The latest experiment, called Free Space Optical Communications (FSOC) and named Project Taara, uses laser power to transmit and relies on mirrors, lights, software and hardware to move the beam to the exact location.

The FSOC can help to fill the connectivity gap that exists between the two African cities of Brazaville in the Republic of the Congo and Kinshasa in the Democratic Republic of Congo.

Normal cables to provide internet has to be routed around the Congo River making it five times more expensive for the cities to get broadband despite being just three miles apart.

The hardware of the FSOC consists of pointing and tracking beacons that beam light across the river.

While we don't expect to see perfect reliability in all kinds of weather and conditions in future, we're confident Taara's links will continue to deliver similar performance and will play a key role in bringing fast, more affordable connectivity to the 17 million people living in these cities

Alphabet X team said in a blog

The system provided nearly 700 terabytes of data over 20 days, Alphabet X team which heads Project Taara said.

"While we don't expect to see perfect reliability in all kinds of weather and conditions in future, we're confident Taara's links will continue to deliver similar performance and will play a key role in bringing fast, more affordable connectivity to the 17 million people living in these cities," the team said in a blog.

The system uses slender beams of light similar to traditional fibre that carries data without using a cable casing.

The team admits that the technology has not yet achieved perfection. There could be issues and errors due to obstructions like birds flying through the link. "While places like foggy San Francisco may never be an ideal spot to use WOC, there are many, many places around the world with ideal weather conditions for Taara's links," the blog read. The latest iteration of the Project Taara has been under development for three years.

EXPRESS FEATURES

HAS the pandemic and consequent acceleration of digitisation spawned a whole new set of careers? This pertinent question, along with many other such ones, will be debated and discussed at the Bangalore Business Literature Festival (BBFL) which starts today.

'How to stay resilient and prepare to grow post Covid pandemic' is the key focus of the seventh year of the festival, which is being held online for a second year in a row. The three-day event will include four-hour sessions spread across three evenings. With events starting in the afternoon, there are a wide range of programmes participants can be a part of. Benedict Paramanand, editor of Sustainability Next, says that the user experience will be much improved from last year. "There was a lot of trial and error last year since it was the first time we were going virtual. But many of the hitches have been fixed," he says.

While business writers often find few platforms to showcase their work, this annual event hopes to fill that gap. V Raghunathan, chairperson of BBFL, former professor of IIM-Ahmedabad, columnist and author, will kick-start the three-day event and welcome the participants and audience. "This year, for the first time, there are international speakers and three Indians who are participating from the US," says Paramanand.

The star speakers include Keel Hunt, author of The Family Business: How Ingram Transformed The World of Books; Mike Shatzkin, thought leader on trends in digital publishing and literature; and Wall Street Journal best-selling author David Meerman Scott will discuss his new book How to Turn Fans into Customers and Customers into Fans. The fest also has a few Indian-origin American authors. Prominent among them is Rishad Tobaccowala who will speak on his best-selling book Restoring the Soul of Business: Staying Human in the Age of Data.

On day one, co-author of Intelligent Fanatics of India Pooja Bhula will be in conversation with author Sudha Menon, Hari Pulakkat, editor of IITM Shaastra and Sudeep Khanna, co-author of Azim Premji: The Man Beyond the Billions.

Since it's a Bengaluru-based fest, a session on start-ups, is inevitable. For those interested in knowing the success stories of start-ups, there's a session called 'Start-Up Success Stories: Less-known Secrets and Trends' with Sanjeev Aggarwal, Prof Srivardhini K Jha and Kaninika Mishra.

'Literature's Tech Game Plan' session will see author of Wheels of Wish: A Crime Planned 800 Years Ago Bibhu Dutta Rout, co-founder and CEO of Pratilipi Ranjeet Pratap Singh and technology and consumer-focused venture capitalist Suresh Narasimha in conversation with Kashyap Kompella, author of Practical Artificial Intelligence: An Enterpreise Playbook.

While there's been a mushrooming of lit fests in recent years, Paramanand points to the registrations which indicate the interest in a festival like this. "The last literature festival saw 300 participants, but we already have 400 registrations this time. We will also be streaming the events on Facebook and LinkedIn which will see more viewers," Paramanand says.

FROM SCRUBS TO SHORTS

If he's not performing a surgery, he's training outdoors for triathlons. Meet Dr Srikanth V who is always on the go

SANATH PRASAD

I can retire from medicine, but not from sports," says Bengaluru-based Dr Srikanth V, Plastic, Reconstructive & Cosmetic Surgery, Manipal Hospitals Old Airport Road. It was in 2002 that he embarked on a journey of adventure after completing his MBBS. Since then, he participated in various marathon events, starting with the Mumbai Marathon in 2008. A medical professional who gets time off only during weekends, has managed not to let go of his passion.

Even in the midst of the pandemic which has been tough on medical professionals in particular, Srikanth has been working towards his goal of becoming a triathlete. "When I heard about running a marathon in 2002, it really amused me, but that was just the beginning. In 2010, I rekindled my passion for cycling and in 2018, I found my interest in something I was really oblivious to swimming," says Srikanth, who participated in the Goa Ironman 70.3, his first triathlon in 2019.

As a recreational adventure enthusiast, Srikanth has participated in the Kaveri Trail Marathon seven times, completed four half marathon and one full marathon at Auroville Marathon (2019), among others. Although medical emergencies have kept him on his toes during Covid-19, he uses the weekends to cycle and run.

"I try to cycle at least a 100 km near Kanakapura Road and Bellary Road. While I manage to attend emergencies during the weekdays, I dedicate weekends to long-distance cycling and running. I also learnt to fix a flat tyre during the lockdown," says Srikanth, who also cycled a distance of 450 km between Manali and Leh in 10 days.

"During the course of my long-distance running and cycling, there were times that I had to return to hospital for medical emergencies," adds the 52-year-old.

Srikanth, who is now gearing up for the Hennur Ultra (50K run), to be held in Bengaluru in October, tells us that training for an open-water swim was his biggest fear.

However, the Goa Ironman helped him overcome that.

"These sporting events are actually a big stress-buster. It gave me time to contemplate things and definitely made me fit. I am much more involved and energetic throughout the day and feel very enthusiastic about everything I do in the medical field," says Srikanth, who plans to start his swim training at a Bengaluru-based aquatic centre in preparation for the Goa Ironman in 2022.

For those Bengalis staying back in namma ooru for Durga Puja, the 'Bengali Association for the Residents of Sarjapur and HSR Area' will recreate the festive atmosphere of Kolkata

Where Bengal meets Karnataka

EXPRESS FEATURES

BENGALURU is no stranger to an inclusive culture, with the city always witnessing large-scale celebrations of various festivals. With Durga Puja, a 10-day festival dedicated to Goddess Durga, around the corner, the Bengali Association for the Residents of Sarjapur and HSR Area (BARSHA) — known for its annual Durga Puja festivities — is introducing a different theme this year to mark the festival.

Calling it 'Where Rural Bengal meets Rural Karnataka', the organisers have themed the festival around the cultural marvels of Karnataka and West Bengal. This event will see a grand display of Karnataka-style art and architecture blending in with the cultural elements of West Bengal. From roof tiles inspired by Karnataka's architecture style to kulo inspired by Bengal's tradition, this year's pujo aims to closely knit the customs of both the states. The event will be organised at a conventional hall in HSR Layout.

Priyanka Sinha Roy, one of the organisers of the event, says that this year's celebration is more thematic compared to previous editions and focuses on highlighting the origins of Durga Puja, which 'rose from the rural regions of Bengal, which then extended to the cities'. "Since we are hosting the event in Karnataka, we wanted to give the event a village-style look, representing the structures of both the states," says Roy.

According to the organisers, the Durga idol will be placed in a structure measuring around 30ft in length and 13ft in height. The structure is made of bamboo and includes roof tiles sourced from local vendors. The shelter will also display some of the Chitarra works which is a type of folk art native to Karnataka. "This event is a marriage between two cultures. The central portion of the structure where the idol will be placed will represent rural Bengal, while the two sides of the canopy will represent Karnataka," says Ambaar Mitra, president of BARSHA.

As fear of third wave looms large, the organisers have beefed up the health protocols to ensure safety during the 10-day event.

A festival that usually draws hundreds of devotees, the organisers are staring at a lull celebration. "The fear of a third wave exists and we are keeping our guest count at a minimum. We are also having very few music performances that will be streamed online.

The work on the idol and the structure is still under progress. We are just keeping our fingers crossed," says Mitra.

Since the Bengali Association is hosting the event in Karnataka, we wanted the celebration to be a marriage of the cultures of both states

FIT BIT

SANTULANASANA

(BALANCE POSTURE)

In Sanskrit, 'santulana' means balance, 'asana' means posture. This asana is specially done to enhance our physical abilities such as strengthening our hands and legs. It is a full body structure workout. It strengthens the core and the arms. A strong core is essential for a strong back and it uses your bodyweight to sculpt the shoulders and arms. In this posture, balancing helps in toning up too. Spiritually this posture stimulates the Manipura (Solar Plexus) Chakra. We find wisdom, self-confidence, and feelings of wellbeing when this chakra is in balance. Anatomically, the solar plexus governs the pancreas, digestive system's organs, and the adrenal glands.

STEPS

- Sit on a flat surface in Vajrasana (Thunderbolt Pose) and place your hands near your knees.
- Raise your buttocks above the ankles, balancing on your toes.
- Keep moving your hands front and lift your knees off the ground. Take your hands so far that they come in line with the shoulders.
- Keep your knees and your back straight and your neck looking forward.
- Slowly raise your right hand above the ground and try to balance your whole body with your left hand.
- Focus the gaze towards the floor and hold this final posture for 1 minute.
- Now you can slowly raise your left hand, and try to balance your body with the right hand.
- Bring your hands and knees down and come back to Vajrasana.

BENEFITS

- Increases energy in your body.
- Beneficial to increase mental and physical stability.
- Thigh muscles and calf muscles become strong and toned.
- There is a positive effect on the stomach and back muscles.
- Beneficial to improve concentration, and hence focus.
- Palms, hands and shoulders become strong.
- Strengthens the thigh, arms and shoulders.
- Improves balance in the nervous system.

LIMITATIONS

- People with injuries in their hands, shoulders, or stomach, or have had abdominal surgery, should avoid this.
- Don't practice this if you have dizziness or headache.
- If you feel short of breath and physically weak, avoid this.
- Pregnant women should avoid.

REVENGE SERVED 'HOT'

Designers and influencers speak to CE about how women incorporate the concept of revenge dressing in their designs

HIMABINDU REDDY

ON 1994, when Prince Charles admitted to cheating on Princess Diana, the latter made a statement; not a verbal one but a symbolic statement which screamed revenge. She stepped out for a fundraiser dinner in a Christina Stambolian silk black off-shoulder evening gown, teamed with a pearl choker.

Till date, women all over the world hail Diana her for it and with reason. Designer Ganesh Nallari calls it enclothed cognition. "This fashion statement gives an individual the confidence to move on from their past. Clothing not only acts as a social armour, but wearing the right garments can affect your cognitive process. This phenomenon is called enclothed cognition — the process of acquiring knowledge and understanding through thought and experience. A garment reflects the way you think, feel and function, and thus has a deeper impact on your mental state," he says.

He recalls this one time when a woman, very timid, conservative and with a history of domestic abuse, came to him for a wardrobe makeover.

"Today, she is a power figure and a well-established entrepreneur," he says.

For fashion influencer Sharon Francis, who recently broke up, revenge dressing is not about drawing attention, but about feeling like a weapon that no one can hurt. "All it took was dressing up in a great outfit and uploading a photo of me on social media. I felt good and confident instantly. It's about yourself first and reminding the world who the boss is," she says. Sharon shares a few tips on how to nail the look: one part of your outfit has to stand out, use statement jewellery and whatever you wear, it's got to be comfortable. "Fashion is an extremely powerful way to express oneself. For me, it is the only way to show the world who I am and how I feel," she says.

Pooja Kankariya, the founder of bespoke fashion label Almara, says revenge dressing is all about perspection and it does not have to be only a western outfit. While she shows us her Little Raven Black Dress and the Raven Black Saree which she designed, Pooja says anything that boosts one's confidence during a rocky phase in life can be considered a revenge outfit. Describing the dress, she says: "The puffy sleeves spell power, a bold, edgy and square neckline makes the shoulders look broad, and the organza material says that the wearer will not settle for anything small."

Ganesh Nallari saree | @GEETHIKAKANUMILLI/INSTAGRAM

Geethika Kanumilli, who owns an eponymous label, says many women are doing this on a daily basis, they just don't know that it's called revenge dressing. "It makes them feel in control and is a great way to make a statement. I used to be that person back in the day, when I was studying. If I had a bad day, I would go out shopping, streak my hair or just change my entire look," she says.

The designer's top colour choices for a revenge dress are black, red and white. "These are pure and powerful. Also, a corset is a great outfit that makes you feel powerful," she says.

Back in the day, we are speaking of the '90s, the concept of revenge dressing was linked with a break-up in relationships. But things have changed, says Ganesh. "Today, I relate this term to the pandemic and the aftereffects it has had on people during the series of lockdowns.

After being at home and for most people, who are working from home and living in their pajamas for too long, there was an outbreak post the lockdown. They revenge shopped to feel better. After all, changing into and out of clothing helps psychologically mark their work time from their social life!" he says.

OF VERSE AND VOICE

IT is pretty difficult to be a poet on social media, that too in an urban set-up. Apart from being asked for recommendations, many readers keep quizzing you for the 'meaning' of a particular stanza or happily let you know that they loathe poetry. They say they do not understand poetry or that they have not read poetry after their college days. Ask them why and they will tell you there was no need to. Dig deeper and you will hear opinions such as – 'Poems are either written by jobless people or those who have the luxury of time', 'Poetry is too complex', 'We don't need it', 'Does not sell in market' etc etc.

Why then, do we need poetry? For many, poetry has always been a window into different worlds - connecting, linking and healing. It is also deeply rooted in social chemistry. Reading poetry itself is an act of coming together, realising that we are not on our own in the world that is becoming more chaotic and merciless. The last few years have been a clear example of how people can bond through poetry. Poets across the country have come to be the voices of a collective consciousness. They have been writing about the pandemic, people's rights, dissent, marginalised communities, oppression, gender issues, casteism as well as various political shifts. In a way, poets have been chronicling our history, and down the lane, will perhaps be looked into by researchers to know what it was like during this time period.

I was browsing for some poetry performances a couple of years ago and came across this spoken poetry forum, wherein artiste Mehak Mirza Prabhu was reciting a poem – on how a woman's persona fades away after being married into a patriarchal household – using the imagery of raw mango pickle making. Here, the abstract had become concrete. There was conflict, clarity, reflection and a very indigenous-yet-modern sort of sensibility about it. That is what poetry is about – it is essentially what bothers us, the happenings around us and our own experiences – presented ingeniously.

I often tell my friends to read poetry aloud to get a better sense out of it. "The poem you connect with will push you towards something bigger. Leave the ones you cannot understand," I tell them. Apart from the social chemistry aspect, we should never forget that poetry is to be enjoyed, appreciated and treasured.

As a metropolitan reader, I am always conscious of the conflict, angst and ambiguities of urban living and feel the need for an open dialogue. 'I am oppressed and sustained by Bombay,' said famed Indian poet Nissim Ezekiel, which is perhaps how many of us who reside in metros feel. That is how we connect with poetry – it provides us with a clearer perception of the world. More importantly, it goads us to push through language barriers and create new visions, new ways of depicting things. This is also how we humans become forerunners of change – by hoping for it and writing about it.

Here are five ways you can optimise your Spotify presence as an artiste

PITCH PERFECT

(The authors run SaPa - the Subramaniam Academy of Performing Arts)

WHETHER you're a singer, instrumentalist, composer, producer, songwriter, or distributor and music marketer, Spotify is at the heart of what you do. We recently held a masterclass (open to all established and aspiring musicians) - delivered by a leader from Spotify India. Here were some of his takeaways on how you, as an artiste or a manager of an artiste, can start growing through the platform:

Download the Spotify for Artists app

It contains insights on the number of streams, how many playlists your music is in, where your listeners are, what they enjoy, and much more. It will help you streamline your music plan and start releasing more of what your fans love.

Playlists are everything

Even as a listener on the app, it is natural to choose a playlist over a single – especially if you're working, driving, or don't have immediate access to the screen. Curate playlists with your own music as well as popular music from artistes you admire. Share the playlists on social media, tag your favourite musicians, and if they end up sharing your post, their fan base will listen to your music too.

Quality over quantity

There's no "right" answer to the question "how often should I put out new music?" What is important, however, is that you focus on great content - even if you're not able to release it very frequently.

Getting into Spotify's editorial playlist

You can pitch your music directly on the Spotify for Artists page, but the final decision rests completely on the editor in charge of the playlist. Make sure you choose playlists that are relevant to your music when you're pitching. Most importantly, DO NOT pay anyone to get your music into a playlist. Spotify never asks for artists to pay; if anyone asks for a fee to get into a Spotify playlist, it is a scam.

Share links on social media

You can share links from the Spotify app directly on Instagram stories, Facebook, WhatsApp and other platforms. Don't be shy; amplify your music everywhere and ensure that everyone is listening to and sharing your music.

As is the case with any online platform, growing on the app takes time, consistent effort, and going back to the drawing board again if required. Be sure to take advantage of the Spotify for Artists app, keep monitoring your growth, and ask your friends to give you an extra boost on social media. And remember, every platform keeps evolving every day. What works today may be completely different tomorrow. So keep an eye out for new updates and tips, and make sure that your strategy is always relevant.

Changing equations

CAN people in love be truly happy by themselves in their relationship, or will their love for each other stagnate and wither away sooner or later? Systems theory tells us that any system left to itself will tend towards entropy. Relationships are systems as well, whether defined as a family system or otherwise.

A relationship system, with its bonds of love and affection between willing adults, will by definition, also tend towards entropy as well if left to itself. With time, everything gets affected, even if there are no external forces that are impacting the system. Each person in the relationship is growing older and changing, and no relationship can remain the same as it was at any point in time in the past when the individuals are changing.

It is perhaps in that context that conventional wisdom has us thinking that relationships must necessarily have stages of growth and change, and that after the honeymoon phase, people in the relationship will settle down to the humdrum of everyday life, and that too can only last so long in some approximation of domestic bliss, before getting challenged. Every now and then, conventional wisdom will have us believe, the relationship will need some new energy to love and nurture, human babies or furry ones, pets or pet projects, businesses or hobbies, something or the other that one nurtures, loves and cherishes.

Thing is, when we add new objects of love, passion projects or any other energy into an existing relationship, almost by definition, it will impact the current system. Each bond in the relationship will be impacted by the new object, the bonds formed there, the balance between all of the different entities in the relationship, and in that rejigging, the old bonds of love can get quite strained. Imagine someone adopting a puppy to bring in a freshness to the relationship. Everybody has to adjust to it. Who will feed it? Train it? Walk it? Play with it? Will the puppy have a favourite among the existing parties to the relationship? How will that play out? Will there be demands for equal share of work, and equal time with the puppy? What if someone rejects the puppy and wants nothing to do with it?

Whether it is a puppy or a startup, or a baby or any other change to the relationship system, there is bound to be a rejigging of all the bonds in the system. Relationships that resist this change, or act as if the change is only about selected parts of the system and others can go about their merry ways as if nothing has changed, or everyone seeks to hold on to the past as if it is to be preserved as it was for all eternity in a fairy-tale ending of living happily ever after, they will find that the ever after is not really happy after all.

One way or another, every relationship will need to change and evolve, or wither away. That's just how things are.

PUNEETH RAJKUMAR, SANTHOSH ANANDDRAM'S NEXT TO BE AN ACTION ENTERTAINER

A SHARADHAA

THE actor-director duo of Puneeth Rajkumar and Santhosh Ananddram are set to collaborate once again with Hombale Films for an action entertainer. This will be the third project of the trio after Raajakumara and Yuvarathnaa. "To all the fans and audience who are continuously asking about my film with Power star Puneeth Rajkumar sir and Hombale films, it will start by early next year. Thanks for the love (sic)," a tweet by the director recently came as a surprise to Puneeth Rajkumar fans, who celebrated this announcement on social media.

In an interaction with us, Santhosh reveals that he is brainstorming on a subject, which is being planned as a rustic action entertainer. The director is sure about coming up with something that will be different from their previous two ventures. "When it comes to working with Puneeth, it is not that the subject is created thinking of him, or the story decides to cast the star, it develops parallelly. In search of a new storyline, we decided to go with an action entertainer that will tackle intense emotions with vigour," says Santhosh, adding, "As a filmmaker, we are always looking at ways to entertain the audience every time with a new subject. The acceptance of any film depends on them, and there will be a constant attempt from our end to give them something new."

This is a hattrick combination of Puneeth Rajkumar, Santhosh Ananddram, and producer Vijay Kiragandur. "Collaboration of actor-directors and producers has been a trend existing across a few languages, especially in Hindi, and Telugu. It is not that we don't want to do films with others. It is just that there is a wonderful comfort level between us. The time, story, and availability also matter. Above all, the subject should justify the combination," says Santhosh about the trio teaming up again. The director, who is currently in the process of locking the script, is getting prepared to begin shooting for the project in 2022. "The project in all likelihood to go on floors in April or in May next year," Santhosh tells us.

The film, backed by Hombale Films, will go on floors in April 2022

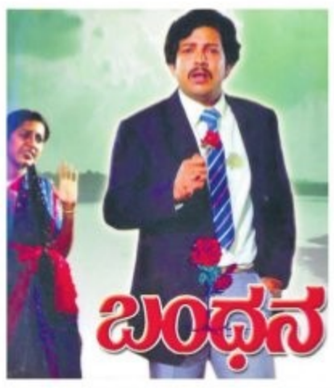
Aditya



Rajendra Singh Babu

I will be directing my son Aditya in Bandhana sequel: Rajendra Singh Babu

The veteran director is planning to make a sequel to his classic hit romantic drama, which will also star Suhasini and Jai Jagadish

CE FEATURES

DIRECTOR Rajendra Singh Babu's Bandhana (1984), starring Sahasasimha Vishnuvardhan, and Suhasini, was one of the best classics of Kannada cinema. To date, the film is among the biggest blockbusters of Sandalwood. The film had an open ending, and Rajendra Singh is now planning to extend the story with a sequel. Interestingly, the project will have the director's son Aditya in the lead role. Annaji Nagaraj will produce the project, confirms Rajendra Singh in a chat with CE.

"The film was conceived a long time ago but was delayed due to the pandemic. After much thought, we decided to put the project on hold for a while. Now, we are back to it," says Rajendra Singh Babu, who agrees, "Making a sequel to Bandhana is a huge responsibility." Bandhana, based on the novel of the same name by Usha Navartnaram, won a lot of accolades including the National Award for the Best Film (1985). It also fetched awards for its lead actors Vishnuvardhan and Suhasini. The film, regarded as a milestone in Kannada cinema, was remade in Tamil as Premapasam.

The director says that the sequel will continue the story of Nadini's character. "Apart from Aditya in the lead, Suhasini and Jai Jagadish, who were part of Bandhana, will be back in the sequel playing prominent roles. The rest of the cast is yet to be finalised," he says. When asked about the shooting schedule of the film, he says, "I am currently working on my Kambala project. I plan to simultaneously take up works of the Bandhana sequel, which will go on floors in October."

Rajendra Singh Babu also has Raja Veera Madakari Nayaka in the pipeline. The first schedule of the historical drama, starring Darshan and bankrolled by Rockline Productions, was wrapped up earlier. However, the project is on hold due to the pandemic.

Rashmi Rocket to release on ZEE5 on this date

Taapsee Pannu

CE FEATURES

TAAPSEE PANNU-starrer Rashmi Rocket will release on October 15 on ZEE5. The makers announced the Dussehra release with a new poster.

Rashmi Rocket is directed by Akarsh Khurana and produced by RSVP and Mango People Media. It tells the story of a gifted sprinter from a village in Kutch. The film is based on an original story by Nanda Periyasamy.

"This film is differently special," Taapsee shares. "I've always been approached when either the script or the director is ready to make the film but one line of this story fell in my lap in Chennai and then from there to it becoming a full-fledged film has been a feeling I haven't experienced with any other film before. Everyone was just so sure about the story from day 1 that it was never a tough job to convince any of the stakeholders to join hands and give their best for this film. Hence the result of this film will affect me a lot more than my other films. Also, I'm extremely proud of it."

Adds director Akarsh Khurana, "As a viewer, I've always been fond of courtroom dramas, mature romances, and sports films. As a storyteller, I've always been drawn to characters on journeys, both external and internal.

A WORTHY FOLLOW-UP BUILT ON SENSITIVE WRITING

SEX EDUCATION
SEASON 3

Creator: Laurie Nunn

Cast: Emma Mackey, Asa Butterfield, Ncuti Gatwa, Gillian Anderson

Streaming on: Netflix

BHUVANESH CHANDAR

SCHOOL season is back at Moordale Secondary, and we couldn't be more excited, given how good season 2 of Sex Education was, which upped its game with great character development and a cliffhanger end involving Otis, Maeve, and Isaac. The new season continues to build on the good work and has added more substance to the series' niche themes and engaging storytelling.

It all begins with a montage of the love birds of Moordale getting down to it, and the first major reveal is a moustache-sporting Otis Milburn (Asa Butterfield) and later, the fact that Otis and Ruby (Mimi Keene) are in a casual relationship. The post-chlamydia Moordale Secondary School is still feeling the aftereffects of previous events, and this causes some big changes. We are introduced to a new headmaster, Hope Haddon (Jemima Kirke), who begins with a dynamic introduction speech. Hope, a former student of Moordale herself, is, meanwhile, on a mission to change the 'sex school' reputation. She wants the kids to walk in a single file, wear the "correct" uniform and sport acceptable hairstyle; she even introduces a new Relationship and Sex Education course that advocates abstinence. Meanwhile, Maeve (Emma Mackey) still has no idea about Otis' voicemail, and she makes it clear that they are not friends anymore.

The series has always managed to strike a balance between the Otis-Maeve plot and other sub-plots, and this continues. Every character has purpose, and we are made constantly aware of their emotional situation. For instance, take Adam, a former toxic masculine bully, who has come a long way after embracing his sexuality and fighting his demons over as many as eight episodes. It's not just the old characters; some fresh faces make a mark too, like Cal, a non-binary student of Moordale, who has one of the best plotlines this season. Cal enters the school with a lot of baggage, and they carry a cool-as-ice attitude that eventually locks horns with Hope. Things get truly awful when Hope's binary RSE course and her insensitive approach begin to threaten Cal. Sex Education is known for writing nuanced, organically developed queer characters, and it does that here as well. Cal's journey, their equation with Jackson and with another non-binary student at the school, are great possibilities to look forward to in coming seasons.

This is a series that features people of different identities, of different age groups, dealing with emotional, physical, existential, and as we all know, sexual issues. It continues to make a strong case for the importance of therapy and sex education. It's impressive how it continues not to vilify characters and extends its empathy and kindness to all characters. Even Hope is who she is for a reason, and it doesn't take much for us to forgive her. The do-gooder Otis too puts on a rude hat for a brief while. It's beautiful that the series even fleshes out a subplot for Michael Groff, the former headmaster. We see glimpses of his abusive childhood, and later, how he begins to embrace joy in life.

RATING 3.5/5

Season 3 isn't perfect, no. I didn't quite enjoy seeing an animal get killed, for one. More importantly, the Otis-Meave plotline features a school trip to France, which while containing some highlights, seems like a simplistic way to add freshness. The grand showdown that happens too isn't as compelling as in the second season. What the final episodes do well though is that they leave you on a high. Fighting for one's rights... the need for educational institutions to be empathetic towards students... These are solid takeaways.

Why do you hold onto someone else when the person in front seems perfect? Why didn't we say the things we should have said? How do you deal with emotional baggage in such a way that it doesn't damage your current relationships? Sex Education manages to kindle such questions in you without ever getting preachy. Season 3 confirms that this school is definitely worth visiting again.
